ROCK GARDEN MURDER HUNT STIRS IOWA

DAUGHTER FACES QUIZ

Additional Bodies Sought as Neighbors Report 'Strange Goings On' at Home.

LE MARS, Ia.—This little community was horrified today as police began a search for additional bodies in a rock garden owned by Mrs. Sumner Knox, 50, once prominent as a socialite and dry crusader. They already had found the body of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Trow, 80, in a shallow grave.

Mrs. Knox was held in protective custody at Plymouth county hospital, pending completion of the search and investigation of stories told Sheriff Frank Scholer by her neighbors. Her mental condition is such, Scholer said, that she cannot be questioned detailedly at present.

Admits Cashing Checks.

He said she had admitted cashing several $90 monthly checks her mother had received from the government as a widow of a Civil war veteran. She also admitted that she had brought another woman into her home to impersonate her mother to quiet the suspicions of neighbors.

Scholer's deputies unearthed the mother's body late Saturday after they had started investigation of rumors which had spread through the community concerning "bodies in the Knox rock garden." They found the body in a coffin which had been crudely fashioned from parts of a kitchen cabinet.

Dr. A. C. Starry, state pathologist, said he had found a crack in Mrs. Trow's skull but was unable to say whether it had been the cause of death.

Hunt Mystery Woman.

Scholer said it was for the body of the mysterious elderly woman whom neighbors had seen at the Knox home, that he and his deputies were searching.

The neighbors told him they had seen the woman—similar in age and appearance to Mrs. Trow—about the Knox household during the past few months.

Scholer said he is concerned also about the whereabouts of Mrs. Knox's husband, a former LeMars mail carrier, who has been missing since Mrs. Trow died.

Benesch Suggests Topper As Head of Commerce Division

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Alfred A. Benesch, state commerce director, recommended today to Governor-elect John W. Bricker that Isadore Topper, Columbus lawyer, be appointed as Benesch's successor when the Republican administration takes office in January.

Benesch, in a letter to Bricker, said he hoped that Bricker would "pardon an unregenerate Democrat for being so presumptious as to suggest the appointment of my successor."

"I am confident that Topper's appointment would be acclaimed by the Jews throughout the state of Ohio and that he would reflect credit upon your administration," Benesch wrote. Both Benesch and Topper are Jews.

Topper was assistant attorney general during Bricker's two terms as attorney general and was active in the early organization of the state liquor department. He had been mentioned in some quarters as possible choice for state liquor director. It was learned, however, that Topper said he would seriously consider the state commerce directorship if it were offered to him. The position pays $6,500 a year.

HUNT 2 GUNMEN

Cleveland Police Probe $611 Theft at Movie House.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Police today sought two men who kidnaped Lester Bieber, downtown theater manager, and forced him to open the theater safe, from which they took $611.

The men, one of them armed, climbed into Bieber's automobile as he stopped in front of his home early today after closing the theater. They forced him to go back, open the theater safe and hand over yesterday's receipts.

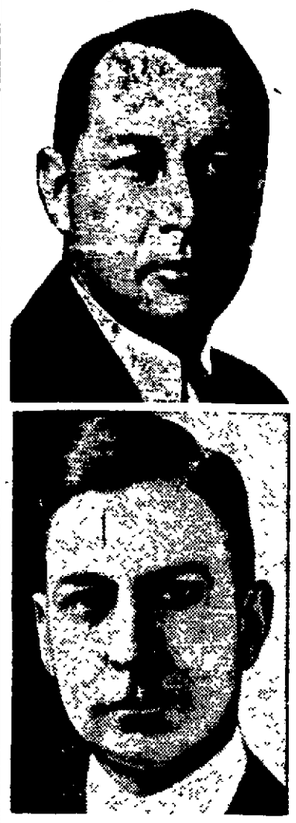
SPARKS ON STAND

Former Akron Mayor Testifies Before Dies Committee.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — C. Nelson Sparks, former mayor of Akron, O., today went before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities to testify on the sitdown strikes which hit that city last year.

Sparks was slated to be followed on the stand by Stefano Camaniti of Philadelphia, to describe activities of the Pennsylvania blackshirts.

In Job Shift



I. R. Ault, top, who for years was Ashland division state highway engineer, today was state highway director as the result of the resignation Saturday of John J. Jaster (bottom), who had held the post since 1935. Ault was appointed by Governor Martin L. Davey late Saturday.

LONE ACCIDENT IN THIS AREA

Woman and Daughter Injured Near Greenwich; State Death Toll Hits 13.

Only one minor accident was reported in the Mansfield vicinity as 13 persons died over the weekend as result of Ohio traffic accidents.

The lone mishap occurred last evening when cars driven by Mrs. Ada Carlson of Milan and Frank M. Swoveland, route 4, Mansfield, collided while going in opposite directions on the county line road, route 13, north of the city.

Mrs. Andy Dambach of Milan and her eight-year-old daughter, occupants of the Carlson car, were treated for minor injuries in Greenwich.

An auto-train collision on a crossing at Upper Sandusky killed Everett Grummel, 57, of Sycamore, and his mother, Mrs. Agnes

BACK IN COURT

Irwin Attorneys Resume Task of Picking Trial Jury.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The trial of Robert Irwin, slayer of "Ronnie" Gedeon, artists' model, and two others, was resumed today before Judge James G. Wallace with opposing counsel renewing their efforts to pick a jury.

Five jurors were in the box as the questioning of talesmen was resumed this morning. Indications were the jury will be chosen by tonight.

A fiction writer, Robert McBlair, was the first talesman examined today. He was challenged by the state after he had stated his wife was an artist and "may have" done some sculpturing.

Irwin was a sculptor.

BLIZZARD NEAR

Jamestown, N. Y. Has Inch of Snow, Warned of Gale.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—(AP)—A snowstorm of "blizzard" proportions was reported sweeping the Chautauqua lake region today, slowing up highway traffic.

A high wind blew in the wake of a night's snowfall of nearly one inch, and snow continued to fall as the temperature dropped to 32.

AULT BECOMES HIGHWAY CHIEF AFTER 11 QUIT

2ND BOOST IN 2 WEEKS

Jaster, Aid and 8 Engineers Resign After Political Row With Davey.

Wholesale resignations in the state highway department which included those of Director John J. Jaster and 10 key assistants because of reported political differences with Gov. Martin L. Davey, today had boosted Ivan R. Ault of Ashland to head of the department.

Ault was appointed director shortly after Gov. Davey accepted Jaster's resignation with "regret" late Saturday. The appointment which expires Jan. 9 when the Republican administration takes over the state government pays $6,500 annually.

Headed Division 2 Weeks Ago.

Ault's rise to his new position was the result of the second major promotion within two weeks. Two weeks ago he was engineer for division No. 3 at Ashland. When B. H. Frasch resigned as chief maintenance engineer because of political differences with the governor, Ault was named to take his place.

He had hardly had time to become acquainted with the maintenance engineer's job before the mass resignations turned the highway department topsy-turvy.

In a statement today Ault said:

Program to Go Ahead.

"Our highway programs will go right on without interruption, for there are still capable men in the organization who can take charge."

He promised that new divisional engineers would be appointed within a few days.

Ault is scheduled to go on trial in Knox county common pleas court next Monday on charges that he solicited and received political campaign contributions from highway workers.

He was indicted on nine counts charging state civil service law violations by an Ashland county grand jury last August. He pleaded innocent when arraigned Sept. 2 in common pleas court there and obtained a change of venue.

Judge Phil H. Weiland of Mt. Gilead will occupy the Knox county bench.

Those who resigned with Jaster were Murray Anderson, first assistant director, and nine division engineers. Informed sources reported that the two directors had quit rather than discharge, on Davey's orders, the division men, who signed affidavits during the recent election campaign charging that Davey and Governor-Elect John W. Bricker entered into a patronage "deal."

The blanket changes in the important departmental positions left engineers in charge of only two of the 12 divisions. Archie Ranney, Ravenna, division 4, re-

PLAN ASSAULT ON WAGNER ACT

Small Business Men's Group To Get Data In Survey.

AKRON — (INS) — A nationwide assault on the Wagner act today was launched by the National Small Business Men's association.

At the association headquarters here it was announced that different chapters, scattered throughout the country, would be asked to support members protesting the act by writing to their senators and congressmen. In addition, the association will act through its Washington connections to bring the action before President Roosevelt, members of the national labor relations board and congressional leaders.

Dewitt M. Emery, president of the association, said:

"It is our plan to compile complete and convincing data as to just what has happened to American business because of provisions of the act."

Looks For Sewage Experiments To Continue For Another Year

Mansfield's sewage treatment plant probably will continue to be an "experimental station" for at least another year, James R. Turner, superintendent, declared today.

Turner revealed today that changes made in operations at the plant last summer at the request of equipment company engineers had resulted in a break down in the bacterial treatment process and that continued months of experimentation to regain a perfect treatment process appeared likely.

He explained, however, that some progress had been made in recent weeks since the removal of milk wastes from the city sewers by local dairy operators.

Only on two or three occasions since the dairy men have halted the practice of dumping their milk wastes into the system has the bypassing of raw sewage been necessary, Turner said.

He added that the plant is now handling a capacity load of approximately 2,500,000 galons of sewage daily, but that only 90 per cent of the load was being fully treated.

"This percentage of fully treated sewage is five per cent less than last summer before the breakdown in the treatment process," Turner pointed out.

He said he was satisfied that at least six months would be necessary to gain what he termed a "perfect sludge" in the aeration units.

Turner said that recent visits had been made here by the Doerr company engineers from New York and Chicago and that all changes were being made as the result of their instructions. The Doerr company is the firm which installed the sewage treatment equipment.

Lewis Seeking Permanent CIO

John L. Lewis and leaders of his Committee for Industrial Organization gathered in Pittsburgh today for the labor group's first constitutional convention. In the above photo, Lewis is shown talking to press representatives, telling them he will work for a permanent CIO group despite the fact that the International Ladies Garment Workers union, with 250,000 members, has refused to join a permanent CIO.

Permancy Aim As CIO Starts Parley

Lewis Leaves Door Open to Labor Peace but Warns Efforts to Abolish Union Are Both 'Vain and Foolish'; Reviews Program.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH—The Committee for Industrial Organization, with three years of militant unionism behind it and a program for the future of political and economic action, assembled in its first convention today to establish a new labor movement.

In the same city where the funders of the rival American Federation of Labor organized a few trade unions into a group 57 years ago, CIO Chairman John L. Lewis gathered some 500 delegates to set up on a permanent federated basis a new labor movement he said was "born of economic necessity."

The opening of the convention was regarded as the most decisive step toward dualism in the labor field Lewis has taken since the fall of 1935 when he and seven other labor leaders, then members of the AFL, decided to organize the unorganized in the mass production industries. For their action, the AFL expelled all but one of the founders.

Sketches History.

In a report prepared for the convention sketching three years of CIO history, Lewis left the door to labor peace open, but warned that efforts to destroy or divide the CIO now are "vain and foolish in the extreme."

"The first constitutional convention of the CIO," he said, "is likely to prove one of the most effective steps yet taken in the direction of labor unity."

The CIO, he said, was receptive to any peace proposal that guaranteed the continuation of industrial organization.

"We are not willing, however, to make of the CIO another Czechoslovakia to be dimembered by such powers as seek peace at our expense."

Reviewing the development of CIO in organizing workers in such industries as steel, autos, textiles, lumber, rubber and oil, Lewis said the membership had grown to 4,037,877 as compared to about 1,000,000 in 1935. After his report was prepared, CIO lost 250,000 in the garment industry when the International Ladies Garment Workers union, headed by David Dubinsky, voted to remain out of a permanent CIO.

Dubinsky predicted yesterday in Washington that his union would remain independent of both the CIO and AFL until they made peace or a special convention of the ILGWU decided otherwise.

NEW TEST SEEN

Inland Steel to Appeal NLRB Re-instatement Order.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — A new supreme court test of the Wagner act appeared assured today as a result of the National Labor Relations board order that Inland Steel company sign a contract with the steel workers organizing committee if agreement is reached in collective bargaining.

The board directed Inland to grant sole bargaining rights for company employes at Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Chicago Heights, Ill., to the SWOC, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate which waged an unsuccessful strike for a signed contract in 1937.

The board's order, however, did not say that all employers must sign contracts with labor unions if agreement is reached in collective bargaining nor did it outlaw oral agreement "if acceptable to both parties."

BLAME QUARRELS

Police Say Storekeeper Kills Wife As Daughter Watches.

EATON RAPIDS, Mich.—(INS)—Constant quarreling today was blamed by police for the murder of Mrs. Joseph E. Getter, 42, by her storekeeper husband, who then shot and killed himself.

Their daughter, Ardith, 11, witnessed the murder and suicide, and ran screaming from the store. Neighbors summoned police who found both bodies.

'BABY TORNADO' HITS FARMS IN FOUR COUNTIES

STRIKES SUNDAY MORNING

Crawford and Huron Hardest Hit; 25 Work 2 Hours, Save Horse Buried in Hay.

A "baby tornado" which swept across sections of four counties in the Mansfield area about 9 a. m. Sunday caused damage which will run into thousands of dollars to farm buildings and crops, a survey showed today.

Missing Mansfield by a few hundred yards, the wind ripped through Springfield township, northwest of the city, tearing the roofs from barns and out-buildings and strewing corn shocks over a wide area.

The roof was torn from a barn on the John Friday farm in Springfield township and the wind damaged the porch and roof on the residence of Arthur Turner on route 30 N.

Power Lines Down.

A number of smaller buildings were unroofed in the same area, and lines of the Ohio Public Service company to farm homes in the Springfield township section were out for two hours when a pole was blown down west of Mansfield, R. D. Iden, distribution superintendent of the power company, reported.

Major damage was in Crawford and Huron counties, while Richland and Ashland counties were also struck by the storm which came from the northwest.

Unroofs Buildings.

The twisting wind tore the roof from a building of the Bucyrus Livestock commission, and two cows in the building were so badly injured by falling debris that it was necessary to destroy them.

SUES GOV. DAVEY

Bradley, Graft Witness, Asks $500,000 for Arrest.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Lee Bradley, saleman who was a witness before a senate investigating committee last winter, today sued Gov. Martin L. Davey and General Motors Corp. jointly, demanding $500,000 damages on a charge of false arrest.

Bradley was arrested Feb. 19, on an East Cleveland municipal court warrant in which Davey charged Bradley with perjury in testimony before the senate committee. He was bound over to the grand jury, which then failed to return a bill against him.

In his suit in common pleas court here today, Bradley charged that Davey and L. L. Tremper, agent for General Motors, engaged in a "conspiracy" to injure his credit and reputation.

PLANE PLUNGES

Wing Drops Off, Send Two to Death In River.

DETROIT—(INS)—Coast Guardsment today dragged the Detroit river for the body of Leroy David Lowry, 32, killed yesterday with James Burns, 32, when their plane crashed into the river after a wing came off. The accident happened on Burns' birthday.

Eyewitnesses said the plane was flying at 500 feet when one wing seemed to melt away and drop off. The plane wobbled crazily then plunged into 12 feet of water, they said.

Shares Drop Sharply as Jews Dispose Of Holdings To Pay "Fine;" New German Decree Bars Them From Schools And Universities.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—A strong British protest to Germany against recent Nazi press attacks on British political leaders in connection with the murder of a German diplomat in Paris was disclosed in the house of commons today by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—The stock market slumped sharply today as leaders of Germany's 700,000 Jews frantically sought to satisfy increasing Nazi demands designed to eliminate their participation in German life.

Many stocks dropped three, four or more points, largely because of sales by panic-stricken Jewish leaders who sought funds to repair damages—as ordered by the government—done in anti-Semitic rioting and to pay the $400,600,000 mass fine ordered by the Nazis as a penalty for the murder of a German diplomat, Ernest Von Rath, in Paris.

Aryans added to the financial slump by seeking quick funds to take over businesses of prominent Jews who organized to finance the repairs and the fine.

There were almost no buying orders, indicating that business leaders looked unfavorably on the possible economic consequences of the government's sweeping new anti-Jewish laws and further restrictions which have been promised.

Nazis made a quick effort to limit the slump when the Reich private bankers organization instructed members not to accept orders from Jews for sale of securities and not to lower their price limits for orders from Jews.

It was suggested that the levy on the Jews probably would not be carried down to the lower brackets, but would be worked out with particular severity on the wealthy and prominent jews, many of whom were under arrest as a result of seizure of many thousands of Jews in the last week. Many of the wealthy Jews have large "blocked" accounts controlled by the government.

Work Out Assessments.

A commission met today under directions of Hermann Wilhelm Goering, commissioner of the four-year plan, to work out assessments on individual Jews for payment of the $400,600,000 fine. It was expected that the first of 3,000 to 4,000 notifications of assessments would be sent out this evening.

The government began carrying out new social restrictions on Jews today. The minister of education ordered universities to refuse Jews admission to lectures. A decree Saturday had closed theaters, movies, museums, dance recitals and lectures to Jews.

The minster of education tele-

HUNTERS HEAR 'CALL TO ARMS'

Season on Rabbits, Pheasants Opens at Noon Tomorrow; Abundant 'Crops' Seen.

Mansfield hunters were making last minute preparations today to be at their favorite hunting grounds at noon tomorrow when the season on rabbits and pheasants officially opens.

It is estimated that more than 5,000 Mansfield and Richland county sportsmen will take to the fields for the first day of the new season.

With the rabbit and pheasant crops considered one of the best in recent years in Ohio, according to state conservation officials, nimrods are expected to bag the limit on the opening day.

The abundance of rabbits has resulted from improved conditions in the state's system of rabbit propagation, conservation officials said, while thousands of pheasants have been distributed throughout Ohio from the broods raised on state game farms.

Hunters, however, will be allowed for the first time this year to take only four rabbits a day while the bag limit on pheasants is two each day. The former bag limit on rabbits was five.

One of the most important phases of the game laws this year, it was pointed out, is that hunters who go to other counties and remain over night for two or more days hunting, can only bring back the bag limit for one day, as possession of more than a day's limit is illegal even though the game has been bagged on different days.

Hunters also were a little ap-

POPE PROTESTS

Prelate Says Duce's Racial Laws Violate Concordat.

VATICAN CITY—(U.P.)—The pope has protested formally to the king and to Premier Benito Mussolini against Italy's new racial laws, Osservatore Romano, official Vatican organ, revealed today.

The pope complained that the racial laws violate the concordat between the Holy See and the Italian government, which recognized the spiritual and temporal power of the Vatican.

Discussing the law forbidding Italians to marry non-Aryans or foreigners, even if Aryan, the newspaper charged a violation of Article 34 of the Lateran accord, which grants the church the right to perform marriages.

"The wound inflicted on the concordat is undeniable," the editorial said.

Carassa, who started the dash from Lima, Peru Saturday, arrived here in a regular transport airplane this morning before death from a gallstone ailment could claim him.

He was immediately rushed to the Mayo clinic where it was to be decided later today whether he would have to undergo an operation.

Jury Starts Hearing Suit In $375,000 Damage Action

A jury in common pleas court was asked this morning to determine whether the Mercer Casualty company of Celina, O., can be held liable in damage suits totaling $375,000 resulting from an automobile accident, and whether a car involved in the crash and insured by the company was driven without the consent of the owner.

At least a dozen attorneys, representing the insurance firm and eight defendants in the test suit, will argue the case. The trial opened this morning before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

Russell Plunkett, 21, of Jefferson county, who is serving a term in the Mansfield reformatory for manslaughter in connection with the traffic crash in which five persons were killed, was brought into the courtroom under guard to testify in the case.

Plunkett, driver of the car, which crashed into the one in which the five persons were killed, is one of the defendants in the action filed by the insurance firm. The crash occurred near Steubenville nearly two years ago.

Administrators of the estates of the accident victims filed suits in Jefferson county against Plunkett and the insurance company which had insured the car Plunkett was driving.

In its answer, the insurance firm contended the car, owned by John Gall of Jefferson county, was operated without the consent of Gall, and that Gall had used the car for other purposes than he had indicated in his insurance application.

MERCURY EIGHT POWERFUL AND SLEEK LOOKING

Has Distinct Appearance But Has Resemblance to Zephyr, Ranked as Style Leader.

The Mercury 8 was introduced to the public this month by the Ford Motor company.

R. E. Moorhead, 37 Park avenue west, is the Mansfield distributor.

Both in size and price range the Mercury 8 takes its place between the de luxe Ford V-8 and the Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 in the Ford-Lincoln line. It is a big car and a powerful one, powered by a V-type 95 horsepower engine. The wheelbase is 116 inches and the overall length just over 16 feet. Big hydraulic brakes are provided on the Mercury 8 as on the 1939 Ford and Lincoln-Zephyr cars.

Has Family Resemblance.

Modern streamlined styling distinguishes the new Mercury 8. The car has a distinctive appearance of its own while bearing, at the same time, a certain family resemblance to the Lincoln-Zephyr, the acknowledged style leader of the motor world.

All the four body types available on the Mercury 8 chassis are extra wide and seat three persons comfortably in front and rear seats. The body types are a town-sedan, a sedan, a sedan-coupe and a sport convertible. In their exceptional roominess, they compare favorably to the Lincoln-Zephyr. There are eight color options available.

Wide visibility for driver and passengers result from low belt and cowl lines. The running boards are narrow and the space gained is utilized inside the body, which is widest at seat level. The interior spaciousness and the unusual luggage capacity were achieved without excessive body overhang, as the result of able designing.

The body interiors are quiet as well as roomy. With the windows closed passengers can converse without raising their voices even at high speeds. Months of tests on the road and in the laboratory preceded this effective sound insulation.

Two-Spoke Steering Wheel.

The exterior beauty of the car is matched by the distinction of the interior styling. The tilted instrument panel, the steering column support and the two-spoke steering wheel are typical of the car's originality of design. The tilt of the panel permits the instruments to be read easily. The curve of the steering wheel rim is repeated in the long arc of the 100-mile speedometer dial, directly in front of the driver. Around it are grouped the guages, including a new battery condition indicator.

In the choice of appointments and in interior tailoring, several new ideas are carried out. The cushions are in a paneled and piping treatment and the upholstery in the three closed cars is either broadcloth or bedford cord, in toupe color. The seat backs and seat cushions in the sport convertible are genuine hand-buffed leather. Cushions are exceptionally deep and comfortable. In all body types, the front seat is adjustable.

The transmission of the Mercury 8 is of blocker type, preventing gear clashing in changing between second and high speeds.

Studebaker By Famed Designer

BIGGER, SMARTER AUTOS IN 4 NEW SERIES OF PACKARD LINE

Cadillac begins its thirty-seventh year as a successful builder of quality automobiles with four new series—a bigger, smarter Sixty-one, the style-setting Sixty Special, the luxurious Fleetwood and America's finest and most powerful passenger car, the Sixteen.

Each of the four series has its own individual engineering and design treatment, yet each bears a definite Cadillac fine car flavor. Briefly, the features follow:

Cadillac Sixty-one—Harmony in exterior and interior is noteworthy. Bodies are lower and longer than 1938. Four types — coupe, touring sedan, convertible coupe and convertible sedan—are presented with or without running boards. Visability has been augmented by larger window and windshield areas. Riding ease and safety are greatly benefitted by a new type rear spring suspension that eradicates much of the vibration formerly transmitted to passengers. Chassis advances tend toward better economy, durability and smoother performance by the V-8 engine of 135 horsepower.

Cadillac Sixty Special—Interior improvements are most apparent since the chassis and low-slung body continue the same advantages that brought the Special leadership in the $2000 price class. Once more the Special is offered in only one body type, the touring sedan without running boards. A deftly streamlined hood blends neatly into the design that was admittedly outstanding in 1938.

Cadillac Fleetwood — Twelve body types, refined in handling ease and passenger accomodation. In keeping with precedent of these custom-built bodies, upholstery cushioning and appointments are of superlative materials. The styling is conservative yet modern.

Cadillac Sixteen—Revolutionary departures of a year ago, which were marked by the introduction of a 135 degree 'V' engine of 185 horsepower, are unchanged in major respects. Interior improvements include more convenient controls and greater passenger comfort. Trim and upholstery have long set standards in the passenger car field and are again matchless in beauty.

An important body advance that is new to the industry this year covers the optional "Sunshine Turret Top" on the Sixty-one sedan and Sixty Special.

NEW CHEVROLET OFFERS BEAUTY, SAFETY CONTROL

Streamlining Kept Within Good Taste, Improved Motors Among Features.

Mechanical innovations ushering in brand-new concepts of safety, comfort and operating ease unite with a host of time-tried Chevrolet fundamentals, many of which are further refined for 1939, in the two completely re-styled Chevrolet series.

The cars look longer and lower, due to re-location of the appearance mass below the belt line. Advanced streamlining, kept well within the bounds of good taste, characterizes their Aero-Stream steel bodies by Fisher, and is especially apparent in the new sheet metal treatment which plays a major part in the sleek all-over effect.

The two series are designated as the Master De Luxe and the Master 85. They are identical as to power plant, and, except for suspension and gear ratio, as to chassis as well. The Master De Luxe features a completely re-designed independent front suspension, and the Master 85 remains conventional; but both springing systems have undergone sweeping revision, resulting in a smoother ride, greater roadability and more positive control. Steering has been made much easier throughout both lines.

Gearshift Optional.

An improvement designed to take first rank among advances in the industry this year—the gearshift steering column control—is optional on both Chevrolet series at small extra cost. Chevrolet engineers, however, have gone a long step beyond mere re-location of a hand-actuated gear-shift lever, and have perfected a positive vacuum-operated gear-shift mechanism. A flick of a finger, without removal of the hand from the steering wheel, now performs all the operations possible with the conventional gear-shift lever.

Improvements said to be comparable with that resulting from Chevrolet's original adoption of Knee-Action in 1934 has been made in the new models' ride, by complete revision of the springing on both series.

Marked improvement in steering has also been achieved. The new suspension system which makes possible true shockproof steering: combines with refinements in the steering mechanism proper, to gain this desirable result

The permanently-adjusted self-lubricating ball bearing water pump introduced during 1938 production is retained. A new ignition distributor mounting simplifies octane adjustment. More positive lubrication of valve rocker arms is assured by a new oil pressure regulator.

SEATS FIT BODY

On the new Buicks particular attention has been given to the construction of the seats to provide the most natural sitting position under all circumstances. The springs in the seats and the seat backs are so designed that they will not be too hard for persons of slight build or too soft for those of greater weight. The seat backs are curved to give the correct support to the body.

PONTIAC OFFERS THREE LINES AT LOWER PRICES

Skill, Originality Embodied in New Models; Quality Six New to Line.

Pontiac's three lines of cars for 1939, the Quality Six, De Luxe Six and De Luxe Eight, are the center of much favorable attention.

All prices are lower than the corresponding models of last year. With remote control safety gear shift as standard equipment on all 1939 models at no extra cost, Quality Six prices have been reduced as much as $80 below Pontiac's lowest priced corresponding models of last year, while De Luxe Six prices are from $30 to $35 below last year.

De Luxe Eight prices range from $10 to $40 below last year's Eight but considering that certain accessories, such as dual tail lights, horns, visors, etc., now are included in the list price, the actual reductions to buyers amount to as much as $32.25 up to $62.25.

Skill and originality of design characterize the new Pontiacs. They combine the height of fashion and good taste in modern streamlining. Heading the list of important mechanical developments are the Duflex rear springs.

5 Six-Cylinder Models.

The Quality Six, which is new to the line, is designed for large production and is the lowest priced. There are five models—two and four-door sedans, business and sport coupes, and station wagon—of 190 inches overall length.

The De Luxe Six, with the same engine but longer chassis than the Quality Six, comes in five more finely appointed bodies. A cabriolet, two coupes and two sedans constitute the line. Overall length of 196¼ inches make it the longest six by four inches Pontiac has ever built.

The De Luxe Eight, with its famous smooth running and economical straight eight engine, embraces the same body styles as the De Luxe Six.

From an appearance standpoint there is an especially pleasing treatment of hood, radiator, fenders and body. The Silver Streak is continued for the fifth year as the central motif, but there is more of a yacht-line prow to the radiator. On either side of the radiator are chromed side grilles set into the fender catwalls.

Pontiac engines which have been highly satisfactory in past years have come in for only slight changes. As formerly both six and eight engines are the L-head type, the bore and stroke of the six being 3 7-16 x 4 inches, while the eight is 3¼ x 3¾ inches.

Chrome nickel alloy electro-plated pistons (a Pontiac patent), rifle-drilled connecting rods, metered-flow lubrication, full length water jackets with water flowing completely around all cylinders and gusher valve cooling, continue to feature the engine construction.

The principal power plant changes which affect all models are the new clutch and transmission. A single diaphragm spring clutch does away with 21 parts, requires less pedal pressure, is smoother and more positive. The new transmission was designed especially for remote control gear shifting.

Carburetors on all models have been redesigned, refined and simplified with fewer parts. Baffles in the float chamber assure a constant fuel level on sharp curves.

FEATURE NEW COOLING

Cat-walk cooling, with louvres in the aprons between the fenders is a practical style element incorporated by Willys-Overland engineers in the design of the new Overland models, just announced by Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.

Lincoln-Zephyr in New Design

This trim new front end distinguishes the 1939 Lincoln-Zephyr announced here today. Its graceful design represents a further advance in the style vogue first introduced by Lincoln-Zephyr three years ago. The almost vertical front profile, the vertical lines of the radiator grille and the streamlined center bars of the front bumper carry out the effect. Chromium-plated strips relieve the severe beauty of the unbroken hoodside panel. A bright moulding sweeps back to the rear of the car. Six body types, among them two convertibles, in eight modern colors, are available. Mechanical improvements include new hydraulic brakes. The exclusive one-piece unit-body-and-frame design and the 110 horsepower V-type 12-cylinder engine, basic features of Lincoln-Zephyr engineering since the car's inception, are retained. The Lincoln-Zephyr is distributed here by R. E. Moorhead, 37 Park avenue west.

LUXURY, STYLING, VALUE MAJOR POINTS OF NEW OLDSMOBILES

Three new Oldsmobiles — two sixes and an eight—representing the finest in motoring luxury, styling and value are on display for Oldsmobile. Each series presents many new and exclusive features to give even greater appeal this year to the offerings of motordom's pioneer builder.

This year Oldsmobile, handled by Douglas Miller Inc., 55 North Diamond street, has entered the low-priced field. A roomy, powerful, beautifully styled, six-cylinder Oldsmobile, known as the "Series Sixty" is well equipped in every way to bid for sales honors in this highly competitive group. Offered on a wheelbase of 115 inches, the "Sixty" is powered with a new Econo-Master engine which develops 90 horsepower. With the introduction of this new car in the low-price field traditional Oldsmobile quality is now available to new thousands. In the popular-price field, Oldsmobile's six-cylinder "Series Seventy" engine develops 95 horsepower and presents an entirely new value in 1939 offerings. Large, comfortable "Observation" Bodies by Fisher permit greatly increased vision which is destined to win favor with both driver and passengers.

While the list of refinements and improvements of the 1939 Oldsmobiles is long and varied, unquestionably one of the leading contributions this year is the introduction of "Rhythmic Ride." This entirely new interpretation of roadability and riding comfort is made possible by quadri-coil springing, four-way stabilization and knee-action wheels. Perfect balance of the new Oldsmobile, regardless of road conditions, is maintained at all times.

Introduction of Oldsmobile's Handi-Shift in which the conventional shift lever is replaced by a short, horizontal shifting lever, conveniently located at the side of the steering column, is not only a convenience but also a contribution to safety. Oldsmobile's highly successful, and this year even further improved, automatic safety transmission, contributing brilliant performance, economy and ease of control is available as optional equipment to 1939 Oldsmobile buyers; this year at reduced prices.

Perfect steering geometry, a feature of all three of the new Oldsmobiles, is accomplished by a new hook-up employing twin tie rods of equal length and weight, and is designated as "dual center-control steering."

Oldsmobile hoods are of the solid, front-fastening type, hinged at the rear and designed to open along the top of the grille. Unsightly hinges and latches are eliminated.

The new dual center-control steering assembly is so designed that the new Oldsmobiles follow a true course and are more safe and positive with this system. Two, instead of the usual single, pitman arms are employed. One is located at the base of the steering gear as in conventional types. The second or "idle" arm is attached to the right side of the frame on the opposite side of the chassis. This design entirely eliminates the conventional tie-rods of unequal lengths and places all of the steering assembly, with the exception of the individual tie-rods, within the sprung weight of the chassis.

For 1939 Oldsmobile also introduces quadri-coil springing and four-way stabilization. Factory engineers reveal that "quadri-coil" springing when combined with various elements of chassis stabilization develops an entirely new high in motoring comfort known as "rhythmic ride." On all three models, the "Sixty," "Seventy" and "Eighty," Oldsmobile has introduced coil springs at each of the four corners of the car. The result is perfect balance between front and rear springs with a constant rate of spring deflection throughout the entire length of spring travel.

BUICK OFFERS FOR NEW LINES, CAR OF BEAUTY

Entirely new in styling and redesigned in virtually every major chassis detail, four new lines of Buick motor cars for 1939 make their bow at the automobile show this year. They are respectively, the Series 40 Special, on 120-inch wheelbase; the Series 60 Century, with a wheelbase of 126 inches; the Series 80 Roadmaster, with 133-inch wheelbase and Series 90 Limited, with a wheelbase of 140 inches.

The four lines of cars handled by Mud Gardner's garage, 116 Park avenue west, ranging in price from $894 to $2453, cover the price fields in which Buick has operated during the past four years. The new prices, according to the management, represent substantial reductions under 1938 and return this year's Buick prices to approximately 1936 levels.

Important developments in the Buick chassis design have resulted in materially lowering the car, thus contributing to the lower and longer lines of the models, while materially improving riding qualities and stability. Contributing greatly to the striking appearance of the car is the adoption of "Cat-Walk Cooling." With this construction the grilles are set in rakish contour in the cat-walk section of the front end, bringing them lower and resulting in better streamlining. At the same time, this construction brings air to the radiator at greater pressure, thus promoting increased cooling efficiency and permits a narrower hood for better driving vision.

Has 'Handi-Shift.'

Buick's "Handi-Shift" remote control gear shift will be found on all models. The shifter lever with this type control is placed under the steering wheel thus clearing the front compartment. Other devices for the driver's comfort and convenience as well as safety will be found in the controls and throughout the car. There is a new direction signal, for example, which flashes a warning and indicates the direction of a turn, safety ignition switch, fatigue-free accelerator, legible instruments, better vision and numerous accessory refinements.

Throughout the cars there are many innovations to be found, some of which are introduced for the first time on any American

Hudson's Airfoam Cushion

Part of the secret of Hudson's new ride is shown in the Airfoam seat cushion and spring design (patent applied for). This new cushioning material, used up to now in deluxe airliners, crack streamline trains, mattresses in leading hospitals and a few makes of costly furniture, is brought to the American automobile for the first time by Hudson The Mersh Motor sales, 217 Park avenue east, are Mansfield distributors.

NEW STREAMLINES, IMPROVED MOTORS EMBODIED IN FORDS

Distinguished by individual styling and featuring engineering refinemets which include big hydraulic brakes, the two finest cars ever to wear the Ford name are attracting wide interest at the R. E. Moorhead Co, Ford distributors

The De Luxe Ford has wholly new streamlines, a deep hood unbroken by hoodside louvres, a low radiator grille and headlamps set into the fenders. The radiator ornament is extended vertically downward to conceal the hood handle. The name Ford De Luxe, in script letters, is divided at the front of the hood.

An improved 85-horsepower V-type engine, even more rugged in construction than the 5,000,000 already in use, powers the 1939 De Luxe cars. The same improved 85 engine, or the 60-horsepower engine, is available in the Ford V-8 at the purchaser's option.

Hydraulic brakes of the two Fords are identical. Pedal action is exceptionally easy, and the brake shoes work in 12-inch cast iron drums.

All-welded steel bodies, fitted with safety glass and with clear vision ventilation, are provided in both Ford lines. All bodies also have ventilating windshields operated by a rubber-covered knob on top the instrument panel. There are large luggage compartments in all body types, and the coupes in both lines have an additional compartment back of the seat.

Luxurious interior appointments feature the De Luxe cars. Cushions in all body types are of new construction to allow free spring action, and they are notably deeper.

The comfort of driver and passengers was carefully considered in the design of the attractive interiors of the Ford V-8 bodies. The deep seats are wide enough for three people, and there are well-placed pillar lights, ash trays, arm rests and other conveniences.

A full grille and unobtrusive louvres at the rear of the hood sides are features of the appearance of the Ford V-8 for 1939. Headlamps are recessed into fender aprons, and decorative touches include a radiator grille ornament which merges with the compact hood handle.

The parking brake on both new Fords actuates the brake shoes in the rear wheels by means of steel cables, and the lever controlling it is under the instrument panel at the left. Drivers' seats in all body types are adjustable.

stock car model. On the Series 40 and 60 cars 'Stream Boards" may be had in place of running boards as optional equipment. Another new feature is the "Sunshine Turret Top" which is available on all sedans of both the Series 40 and Series 60 models.

This new sliding top provides sun and sightseeing advantages for closed cars which have hitherto only been possible in an open car. The roof panel slides back providing this vision upward. It is drip proof and rain proof.

Throughout the power plant, chassis and driving units there are a number of engineering improvements. The Dynaflash engines, valve in head straight eight, type have been improved in many details of design.

Improvements in the motor include a new fuel conditioner with new carburetor, choke, air cleaner and new manifold; new water pump bearings, sealed and lubricated for life; new engine mountings and other detailed changes.

NEW CHRYSLERS HAVE COMPLETE CHANGE IN LINE

Increased Horsepower, More Roominess, and Improved Performances Noted.

Chrysler's 1939 line is featured by a complete change in design, increased horsepower, a steering-column gear-shift, an entirely new type of over-drive transmission, greater interior roominess and a large number of refinements that contribute to improvement in performance, increased comfort and safety and greater operating economy. The company again offers three lines, designated as the Royal, Imperial and Custom Imperial.

The wheelbase of the 100-horsepower Royal is 119 inches, of the 135 horsepower Imperial 125 inches and of the Custom Imperial 144 inches. Royal and Imperial come in four body styles, namely, four-door sedan, two-door sedan (brougham) coupe and victoria coupe. The latter is fitted with two auxiliary seats. The Custom Imperial comes in five-passenger sedan, seven passenger sedan and sedan-limousine body styles.

The 'Royal Windsor.'

In addition to the standard Royal line, a deluxe car designated as the "Royal Windsor," with special trim and extra equipment, is offered on this chassis.

The gear-shift lever has been taken off the floor and moved to the steering column on all 1939 Chryslers.

One of the most important advances in the 1939 line is the introduction of an improved type of transmission, known as the "Cruise and Climb." In general principle this transmission is similar to the overdrive previously used in Chrysler cars but it is vastly more valuable to the average driver in that it cuts in at speeds of from 23 to 28 miles an hour, instead of above 40. This means that it will be available for a large part of city driving

A new type of safety speedometer will contribute to driving safety. The indicator is illuminated when instrument lights are on. From a standstill to 30 miles an hour—the legal speed in most city driving—the light shows green. From 30 to 50 miles it is amber and at 50 it changes to a brilliant red.

Horsepower of the Royal has been raised to 100 by means of an increase in compression ratio from 6.2 to 6.5 and an improvement in manifolding and carburetion. Bore and stroke remain the same as last year. 3-⅜ by 4-½, with a piston displacement of 241.5 cubic inches.

Fenders have been newly designed with a sweeping flow of line and an impression of rugged swiftness and thorough competence. Headlamps are built into the fenders and conform to their front end contours.

Rear-end lines are characterized by a majestic sweeping curve. The trunk has entirely disappeared from all Royal and Imperial models, in favor of a concealed luggage compartment, so there is nothing to mar the symmetry of the rear panel.

A new synthetic enamel finish is now used on all Chrysler cars. This enamel is harder and more durable and holds its color and lustre longer than any other paint ever offered by this company.

WILLYS OFFERS NEW OVERLAND

Features Slip-Stream Design, Thrift Engine; Stays In Lower Price Range.

Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., announced the addition of a new Overland car to their line today. The new Overland presents a marked advance along the general line of construction featured by this manufacturer during the past two years and is larger than the Willys line, bringing the production of the company into the two chassis field.

The new Overland introduces a newly developed slip-stream design incorporating light but exceedingly strong structural design with an inherent economy factor which is the result of low comparative weight per unit of horse power development.

Mansfield distributors are the Mersch Motor Sales, 20 Bowman street, and Terman Motors, 164 North Franklin avenue.

The Overland engine develops 61 horse power and the principles of advanced engineering design which have been included make it possible to achieve this power while maintaining the operating economy which has been associated with Willys-Overland products.

In appearance the new Overland slip-stream body is marked by a distinctive development of streamlining accentuated by a hood which bears close resemblance to the front of a modern transport air-liner.

A new type of headlight centered in the fenders on an eye-ball mounting conform with the general body contours and present a pleasing eye appeal. Willys-Overland was one of the pioneers in the use of headlights in the fenders.

The lines of the fenders incorporate deep skirts and an attractive type of wheel housing with the hubs of the wheels geometrically centered in relation to the curve of the fenders.

A special type of bumper with guards to conform to the general body design of the car has been incorporated into the design.

The hand or emergency brake, mechanical in type, is located under the instrument panel at the left of the driver.

Notable developments in the design of the motor include the use of light weight, aluminum, electro plated pistons; a new type silent camshaft, close fitting valve parts with a high valve spring tension and a valve spring dampener.

Water jackets extend the full length of the cylinder walls, and a packless water pump is used permitting free passage of water through the valves. The hood design with louvres in the apron affords free flow of air over the radiator core. Thermostat control of water temperature is used.

A single jet down draft carburetor and heat control manifold are newly developed factors also adding to motor efficiency.

PLYMOUTH BUILDS GREAT CARS

NEW "ROADKING" NEW "DE LUXE"

THIS YEAR PLYMOUTH'S THE CAR

Here's one worth going after!

A lot of fussy care went into the way it looks from the rear—you know, that's the angle from which it's oftenest seen.

Going or coming, it moves like a honey bee about its business. Better look quick if you want to see it—one sudden "swo-o-o-sh!" and it's gone!

How about it—is this stunning 1939 Buick really as lively as it looks? Well, just try it and see—you'll find it the car and the value of the year!

Maybe a bullet gets off faster. Maybe a rabbit can beat it on the jump or a skyliner lead it from point to point.

But you'll never want a highway cruiser that answers quicker to the green light's "go"—that slips more deftly through the holes in traffic—that with keener relish eats up the miles.

That bonnet houses a full complement of eight cylinders, and Dynaflash cylinders at that. All four wheels dance on BuiCoil springing of stout spiraled steel; no quiver or shiver shakes the luxurious body in its flight.

You'll see the world — lots of it — for this sightly Buick now parades the passing panorama through windows with up to 413 more square inches of outlook than before.

Other things you'll like: A gearshift out of knee-way. Front wheels that "bank" the curves for you. Brakes that stop on a dime — and leave nine cents change.

Go see this lovely lively traveler. Drive it — feel its magic yourself, first-hand.

You'll find it beautiful in action as in aspect — you'll go for the way it goes for you.

You'll find it obedient and willing, a car that holds its marks in cross-winds, bears sharp around curves without slide or slew.

In fine — we think you'll like all of it—from its looks to the way it lives up to them. Won't you try it out — and see?

ADDRESSES 600 ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HERE

Los Angeles Man Lectures at High School Under Auspices of Mansfield Church.

An audience of 600 attended a lecture on Christian Science yesterday afternoon in the Senior high school auditorium by Judge Frederick C. Hill, C. S. B., of Los Angeles, sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Judge Hill spoke on the subject, "Christian Science: the Law of Life Abundant." He is a member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass. His talk was the annual public lecture of the church.

He said in part:

"About the middle of the nineteenth century human thought was active in endeavoring to break many of the limitations which seemed to be the handicap to material progress. The electric telegraph and the telephone were the immediate results. Earlier in the century it was conceived that a submarine cable might be constructed and two continents connected thereby. In 1806 this became an established fact; Europe and America were linked by the first submarine cable.

"In the year 1866 Mary Baker Eddy, a kind, intelligent New England woman, made the discovery of the divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love. She observed that just in proportion as she understood and interpreted the law of man's being to the daily affairs of her human experience her thought was elevated and transformed, and that this transformation was expressed in the enjoyment of a better sense of health, happiness, and contentment.

"Because of her love for humanity she desired to share her discovery, and in 1875 she published her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." In 1879 she organized a church, 'a church designed to commemorate the words and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing' (Manual, p. 17). In 1908 she established an international daily newspaper which, from the standpoint of clean journalism, is regarded by many as the highest standard in the newspaper world.

"Between the age of fifty-four and eighty-seven years Mrs. Eddy gave to the world a great book, a great church, and a great newspaper. I am sure you will readily agree that these major achievements are sufficient evidence to sustain our claim that Mrs. Eddy was a great benefactor to humanity.

"In her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she says (p. 268): "In the material world, thought has brought to light with great rapidity many useful wonders. With like activity have thought's swift pinions been rising towards the realm of the real, to the spiritual cause of those lower things which give impulse to inquiry. Belief in a material basis, from which may be deduced all rationality, is slowly yielding to the ideas of a metaphysical basis, looking away from matter to Mind as the cause of every effect."

"Referring to her revelation she says(ibid., p. 107), "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ Science or divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love, and named my discovery Christian Science." She had discovered the law which Christ Jesus taught and practiced—the law which he applied in healing disease, the law which gave sight to the blind, the law which loosed the dumb tongue, the law which cleansed the lepers, the law which raised Lazarus and others from dead. He knew the law of God, but he left no writings nor definite rules with his followers.

"Mrs. Eddy's discovery and her writings have given to mankind a definite system whereby they may prove in Christian Science the truth of Jesus' saying, I am the way.'"

The leaning tower of Pisa was intended to stand upright but the soil beneath gradually gave way on one side until the marble structure was 16 feet out of the perpendicular.

New Judge

Beauteous Mrs. Gilda Richmond Walters (above), of Boston, has been nominated by Gov. Charles Hurley, of Massachusetts, as special justice of the Ayer district court. Mrs. Walters, mother of two, was the youngest woman attorney ever to win a decision before the supreme court.

PICK COMMITTEE

County Poultrymen Prepare For Congress at Cleveland.

Carl Daugherty of Shelby had been selected chairman of a committee to handle Richland county promotion for the 1939 World's Poultry congress in Cleveland.

C. G. Berger of Mansfield was named vice chairman of the group; County Agent George B. Ganyard, secretary, and George C. Balliet, Mansfield, treasurer. Plans for the campaign were formulated at a meeting of poultrymen at the courthouse at which C. M. Ferguson, extension poultryman at Ohio State university, outlined plans for the congress.

Rehder Cautions Hunters to Guard Against Tularemia

With the opening of hunting season less than 24 hours away, Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, today warned hunters and other persons handling wild game to guard against tularemia, commonly called "rabbit fever."

Dr. Rehder said that while only three cases of the disease have been reported in Richland county in the past 10 years, and two of these in the past two years, the disease has shown a marked increase throughout the state and nation.

Tularemia is an infectious disease of wild rodents, especially rabbits, and has been known to have been carried by pheasants and quail, Dr. Rehder explained. It is usually contracted while dressing game through wounds in the skin and from ingestion of insufficiently cooked meat from infected animals, he added.

Dr. Rehder cautioned hunters not to take inactive rabbits or those brought in by a dog or those that can be chased down and killed by a club.

"While dressing any wild game it would be well if every person wore gloves," he said.

STILL BURNING

Year-Old Peat Fire Said To Have Started by Cigaret.

HUNTINGTON, Ind.,— (INS) — Many motorists on U. S. Road 24 near here have stopped to examine a fire said to have been started July 18, 1937 by a discarded cigaret in a peat deposit. The fire has burned an area more than 50 feet long and 25 feet wide, although water has been poured into the pit from an adjoining hill. Heavy rains have failed to extinguish the blaze. Three spirals of oily black smoke rise from the pit and grass at the edge.

New Plumage for U. S. Eaglets

ROBBER WALKS NEAR THE SAFE AND ZINGO---ON GOES A LIGHT

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The mystery man of locks, Charles Courtney, now claims he has developed—with the help of collaborators—an uncanny "robot lock."

This lock is said to detect instantly the presence of any intruder in nursery, home, bank or office. It is now being closely guarded in a chest at Locksmith Courtney's New York establishment.

During a demonstration of the lock an electric lamp in the show window automatically lighted when anyone extended a hand within six inches of the chest. A turn of a switch and a bell rang as long as the person kept within range of the chest. As more than one person approached, the range of the detector increased.

The locksmith says the apparatus operates on the principle of radio and can be set to meet the resistance of one or more human bodies. Should more than the limited number of persons approach, the alarm sounds.

Courtney envisages unlimited possibilities for the apparatus in the protection of children in their homes from kidnapers, in the guarding of banks, jewelry stores and other establishments from robbers and even in the detection of enemy aircraft in time of war.

STOCK LOSSES REDUCED AFTER EARLY SELLING

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks were sold in volume during today's early market proceedings as many traders cashed profits on the recent advance.

The ticker tape was behind a bit at the opening, but activity dwindled near the second hour and initial losses running to a point or more were reduced in the majority of cases.

Business and political hopefulness was apparently still strong in Wall Street although this was offset to some extent, brokers said, by clouded European developments, especially unsettlement over the racial question in Germany.

Principal share losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Gypsum, Westinghouse, General Electric, and Consolidated Edison. Most utilities and rails were only moderately lower.

Both sterling and the French franc weakened in terms of the dollar, but eventually received support. Bonds and commodities were mixed. European securities markets were uneven.

Market anaysts found a cheerful note in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said another sharp jump in steelmaking has been accompanied by a further rise in orders and definite improvement in business sentiment.

Although the immediate outlook for sizable railroad purchasing was viewed as unfavorable, it was thought private and public building, engineering construction and shipwork offered encouragement to the steel industry.

prehensive today as to the condition of rabbits because of the unseasonable weather. Rabbits are more apt to be infected in warm weather.

The rabbit season continues through Jan. 1 while pheasants may be shot from Nov. 15 through Nov. 30, but only from 7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. after the first day.

When nimrods take to the woods and fields they will be required to display their new license emblems on their backs for the first time. Failure to display the emblem in its proper place will result in arrest, C. I. Kimmel, county game warden, said.

Tomorrow also marks the open season on numerous other furbearing aimals which includes the trapping season. A change in the trapping laws this year prohibits the laying of a trap under or on any public highway or any other road or path used by domesticated animals or human beings, or within 10 feet of any muskrat house.

The open season on skunk, opossum, muskrat, mink, and raccoon is from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15, with a bag limit on only the raccoon of two a day. Red fox may be taken from Nov. 15 to Feb. 1, 1939. There is no closed season on gray fox and no open season on deer in the state.

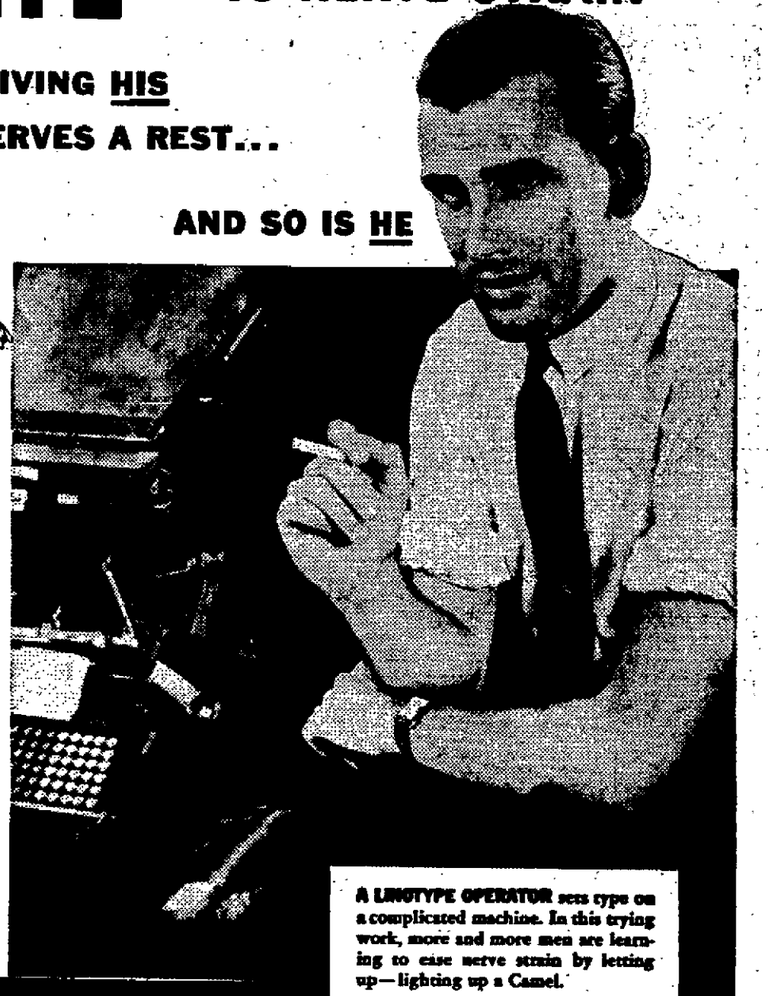
YOUR BUSY LIFE LETS DOWN THE BARS TO NERVE STRAIN

BOSTON TERRIER—A cross between the English bulldog and white English terrier, but this gentle, lovable house pet is strictly an American product. First bred in Boston some 60 years ago. Once called the "Roundhead," today he is the "American Gentleman" of dogdom. The phrase "Boston terrier expression" has become almost a synonym for intelligence in dogs.
HE'S GIVING HIS NERVES A REST... AND SO IS HE


ARE these busy, trying days for you? Do you find yourself, at day's end, irritable, nerve-weary? Take a moment—study the dog above. He's resting his nerves. Even in the midst of strenuous action he will stop, relax. The dog does that instinctively, though his nerves are complex, high-keyed like our own.
We, trained for the intense stress of modern life, are likely to ignore the distress signals of our nerves—the instinctive urge to rest. So often, we let our will-power drive us on at a task, heedless of nerve tension.
You don't want your nervous system to be a drag. See what a difference it makes when you rest your nerves frequently—when you LET UP—LIGHT UP A CAMEL. Enjoy the mellow goodness, the matchless mildness of Camel's rich, ripe tobaccos. Smokers say Camel's costlier tobaccos are so soothing to the nerves.
They break Nerve Tension—Millions do—They "Let up—Light up a Camel"
A LINOTYPE OPERATOR sets type on a complicated machine. In this trying work, more and more men are learning to ease nerve strain by letting up—lighting up a Camel.

Smoke 6 packs of Camels and find out why they are the LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

A QUARTER-MILLION miles of flying are behind Miss Lolly Sisson (left), air hostess on TWA's "Sky Chief." She says: "Caring for passengers on long flights is a real strain on the nerves, but I keep away nerve tension by pausing when I can. I let up and light up a Camel."
DID YOU KNOW:
—that if a roll of cigarette paper were not cut as it runs through the machine, it would make a cigarette a mile long? That modern cigarette machines turn out 800 to 1000 finished cigarettes per minute? That the output of every machine is continuously under inspection and test to make sure each and every Camel is perfect? Camels are a matchless blend of fine, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.

FORMER GALION PASTOR DEAD

Rev. Conrad Hassel, 75, of Lafayette, Ind., Organized Crawford Society.

GALION—A message to Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of First Reformed church here, Saturday, revealed the sudden death of Rev. Conrad Hassel, 75, at his home in Lafayette, Ind., Saturday morning.

Rev. Hassel was pastor of the First Reformed church in Galion from 1891 to 1903.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at Lafayette.

Rev. Hassel had moved to Lafayette a number of years ago after he retired from the ministry while serving near Bellevue. He was asked to fill the pulpit temporarily at Lafayette, a former pastorate, but his congregation liked his work so well that they asked him to fill it permanently and give up the idea of retirement. He was actively engaged in this work at the time of his death.

He was one of the organizers and the first president of the Crawford county historical society. This society was instrumental in erecting a monument on the site of the Olentangy battlefield between Galion and Bucyrus where on June 6, 1882, Col. Crawford's retreating army faced about and had a battle with the pursuing warriers from Sandusky and Butlers Rangers from Detroit.

During his pastorate here he served as president of the Heidelberg classis, president of the Central synod and delegate to the General synod and president of the home missions board of the church. His first pastorate was at Ashland, the second at Galion. He went from here to Buffalo, N. Y., then to Lafayette, then to Fireside near Bellevue before going back to Lafayette.

He was married to Lydia Forwick, daughter of a well known minister of the Reformed church at Vermilion, in 1889. There were six children.

graphed the rectors of all universities ordering them to oust Jewish students immediately and not to permit any more to enter even for lectures which do not involve examination for degrees.

This means final elimination of Jews of all ages from the German school system. Lower grade pupils from six to 14 years old were taken from German schools in 1936 and put into Jewish private schools. Jewish professors had previously been ousted.

Since 1935 admittance to higher institutions had been on a quota based on the population of Jews in the various university districts.

Britain Calls Off Peace Negotiations.

LONDON — Negotiations between Great Britain and Germany, which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain hoped would bring a lasting European peace, have been postponed indefinitely, it was reported reliably today.

The postponement was caused by the severe Nazi campaign against Jews and Adolf Hitler's personal attacks on leaders of British public life, including prominent members of parliment.

Public opinion was high especially because the new anti-Jewish campaign came after the four-power "appeasement" conference at Munich which decided the fate of Czechoslovakia

Chamberlain was reported reliably, however, still to be determined to negotiate with Hitler He realized that immediate discussions were impossible because of high British indignation with Germany as well as Hitler's apparent irritation with Britain

It was understood that the government would not intervene openly in the German anti-Jewish campaign. The government was expected to maintain a firm stand with regards to the interests of British Jews in Germany, however Hoover Joins in Persecution Protest.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Former President Herbert Hoover, Sinclair Lewis, Bishop William T. Manning and President William Green of the American Federation of Labor protested jointly today against renewed persecution of Jews in Germany.

The leaders responsible for the persecution have taken Germany back four and a half centuries by their actions and are "building their own condemnation by mankind for centuries to come," Hoover asserted.

"It is not the German people at large who are to be blamed for this action," he said. "The blame is squarely up to the political agencies in power."

tained his post while H. A. Keller, former division engineer of construction at Ashland was promoted to acting division engineer of district 3, the position left vacant when Ault was given a new post.

As Ault's former first assistant, Keller takes over his new duties today at the same salary paid while in his former position

Keller has been with the highway department since 1912, coming to Ashland from Columbus in 1931. The temporary appointment was received by Keller Saturday and was made by former Director Jaster.

Keller apparently was one of the few division engineers who escaped the Davey axe despite the fact he worked for Charles Sawyer, unsuccessful Democratic gubernatorial candidate. Keller said today he attended a Sawyer meeting of highway workers held in Mansfield previous to the election.

At Columbus, Gov. Davey said: "The only thing I asked these division engineers to do was to stay out of politics and attend to their official duties

"They resigned because they were told to resign or get fired. They traded their honor, their loyalty, and their sense of propriety for the promise of jobs."

Ault's former position as chief of the maintenance bureau in the department will be filled by Xenophon G. Hassenplug of Sandusky.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, sweet or rich foods or when you are nervous, worried or above yourself—your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

NEW ALTIMETER READS TERRAIN BY RADIO ECHO

Instrument, So Sensitive It Records Passing Over Buildings, Perfected.

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—A newly devised "absolute" altimeter was said by aeronautical experts here to be the greatest contribution to aviation in the past decade, after a series of test flights in a transport plane fitted with the new safety equipment.

The instrument was produced through joint efforts of United Airlines, the Bell Laboratories and the Western Electric company, airline officials said.

The new device registers for the pilot at all times his exact height above any type terrain. Previous altimeters have given only the altitude above sea level and were not affected by sudden, abrupt changes in elevation.

Tested Over Bridge.

Engineers demonstrated the "magic" of the new terrain indicator in a flight over the towering San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge. While the normal altimeter showed a reading of 900 feet the absolute meter flashed back to a reading of 700 feet in the fraction of an instant it took to pass over the bridge.

Buildings on Treasure Island, site of the Golden Gate International Exposition near the center of San Francisco bay, showed an approximate height of 250 feet. As the laboratory ship soared over San Francisco the new instrument fluttered wildly back and forth as the plane crossed over buildings of various heights.

Engineers said the new device would greatly increase the safety factor in both day and night flying. They said it would be especially valuable to pilots flying over high mountain ranges in stormy weather, or at night when visibility was zero.

The absolute altimeter uses the shortest radio wave ever employed for aviation purposes. In use, it accurately gauges the altitude of the plane above the ground by the transmission of radio signals from the plane to the earth, and the reflection of the signal back to a receiving set in the plane. The distance is automatically recorded from measurement of the elapsed time between transmission of the signal and its reception.

A striking example of Motorola's extra radio value for 1939

A few of the many reasons this marvelous new 1939 Motorola was chosen for The Foods of the Hour Cooking School to be held at the Ohio Theater this week are: The latest style walnut finish cabinet, so excellently proportioned, and finished so generously. The six-station Full-Range Push Button Tuning. The continuously variable Dual-Tone Control, its five tubes, 2 bands and the fact that it will so easily tune in American and Foreign Programs.

Miss Ruth Chambers, Lecturer

Food Fashion Revue Cooking School

"In most cities, the newspaper is inclined to send me to the largest advertiser for my beauty work, and sometimes that is not the best place. But, I know Maurice's is the right place in Mansfield, because I have had work done in Maurice shops in other Ohio cities and it was superb. Mansfield is fortunate, indeed, to get such fine beauty work at Maurice's reasonable prices."

Mansfield News-Journal

THE MANSFIELD NEWS AND MANSFIELD JOURNAL
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Mansfield Daily Journal Founded by Mansfield Journal Co.
Office: Fourth and Park, Mansfield, Ohio. Phone Canal 6161.

National Advertising Representatives—Tiggney, Woodward & Co., Inc., New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Boston, Kansas City, Atlanta, San Francisco, Los Angeles.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES—By Mail: Richland and adjoining counties per year, $5.00; 6 months, $2.50; 3 months, $1.25 (in advance); elsewhere in Ohio per year, $6.00; in U. S. outside of Ohio, per year, $7.50. By Carrier, per week, 10c.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1938.

And just to think—only a week ago today everyone was wondering how the election would come out!

And, then again, it is just possible that Governor Lehman's opposition to packing the supreme court strengthened him with the voters.

Another gloomy prophet predicts the world will come to an end on a Sunday in December—which will seem odd to those radio listeners who thought it was happening a couple of weeks ago.

The Most Dangerous Place.

BELIEVE it or not—the most dangerous place you can be is at home!

According to the National Safety council, the principal causes of deaths from home accidents last year were divided as follows: falls, 17,500; burns and explosions, 5,600; poisonings, 1,700; firearms, 800; mechanical suffocation, 1,000; poison gases, 1,100. The grand total was 32,500 deaths—ninety out of a hundred of which were unnecessary, and could have been easily prevented.

The Red Cross, in company with other safety organizations, has been carrying on a drive to awaken the public to the danger of home accidents, and to show how hazards may be easily removed and avoided.

Take a look around your own home. Is there a loose rug at the top of a staircase? It may easily cause a fall that will result in long agony in the hospital, or death. Can unlocked medicine cabinets be reached by children? If so, they are in imminent danger of fatal poisoning by such a common first-aid accessory as iodine. Are guns kept unloaded and out of reach of amateur hands?

You can think of many more such vital safety questions. When you do, answer them at once—and not by guesswork, but after a rigorous investigation of every room in your home. And once you've eliminated hazards, keep them eliminated.

Sales Tax Lottery Proposed.

PROPOSAL to associate a state lottery with collection of Ohio's sales tax is another instance of novelty in modern thinking.

Under such an arrangement, with the lure of $100,000 in monthly prizes, it is assumed that all purchasers of taxable commodities would demand sales tax receipts and retain them until after each monthly drawing.

The suggestion is offered by George V. Sheridan, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, who contends that the giving of $100,000 in prize money each month would be more than compensated by increased collections and that enforcement costs would be reduced to a minimum.

While such a plan might accomplish at least a part of what Mr. Sheridan claims, the point will probably be raised that the element of chance would make it a violation of the state's anti-gambling laws and that it would also clash with federal postal laws to the extent that reference to the lottery and names of prize winners would be barred from the mails.

In any event, Mr. Sheridan's presentation of the subject opens it for pro and con discussion.

Handling the Family Income.

MANY interesting subjects have been discussed in the the Young America letters, to which Elsie Robinson has been devoting her Monday column.

Today's article on the handling of family finances is one of those "yes" or "no" things, so dependent on circumstances in each case that no arbitrary rules can be formulated.

An ideal way, of course, would be for both husband and wife to be familiar with family finances and to share in expenditures and savings.

Observation discloses many instances, however, in which one or the other lacks training in the handling of money and indulges extravagances or incurs obligations far in excess of the family income.

In some cases the husband is given to reckless spending while the wife is inclined to economy and thrift.

In other families the reverse is true and the wife aspires to luxuries not justified by income.

Responsibility for handling the family money may be most safely entrusted to the one who evidences greater ability to budget outgo to conform with income—and to wind up each year with savings instead of debts. Sometimes it's the husband, sometimes the wife—occasionally neither.

Russian Troubles.

OBVIOUSLY the Communists in Moscow are having a good deal of trouble in making their system work. But it is hard for outsiders to credit the reasons they give for that trouble and to approve of their remedy.

Always they have blamed failure on "wreckers" deliberately trying to destroy the Soviet system by hindering its operation, sabotaging factory production, interfering with agriculture, transport, and so on. Usually the alleged wreckers have been Russians represented as corrupted by foreign gold or influence.

In the present wave of accusations they are said to be "agents of foreign intelligence services." This has been especially vicious, says Chairman V. M. Molotov of the Council of People's Commissars, because interference with transport service "injures the most sensitive nerve of the state."

There may be something to it, of course. Russia has enemies, and perhaps Germany in particular would be interested in crippling Russian transportation. Americans, however, have mostly felt that the Soviet government's failures of production and distribution were the result of attempts to accomplish the impossible, moving too fast, expecting too much of human nature, and having poor human material to work with—not to mention the handicap of impractical theories.

One of the most remarkable discoveries made in recent years is that a house may be inexpensive and yet good-looking.

In spite of the depression, there are no "poor people" any more. There are just "low income groups."

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—America's biggest banking agency, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is managed for the most part by men whose $10,000 a year contrast very sharply with the higher salaries paid by first string banks in metropolitan centers, or even in some of the second string banks of the country.

However, the salaries are the envy of many administrators of other federal agencies who have found no opportunity to crowd so many $10,000-a-year men on the payroll. In government service a $10,000 a year salary is quite some punkins, and no wonder, it being fair to middling pay in any field.

Jesse Jones, the Texas banker and builder, whose own $10,000 federal pay check probably isn't a tithe to his annual income, heads the organization, whose credit has been extended into many major and minor industries directly or indirectly since it was created under the Hoover administration. It really blossomed out under President Roosevelt.

* * *

Bankers Come High.

HIGH class banking help always has come high throughout the ages and reports are that the amiable Mr. Jones has had to use some of his most eager persuasion to get some of his men to leave old jobs to join the RFC even at $10,000 a year, although needless to say the same is not true of all.

Altogether the Washington payroll of RFC has 21 names listed at $10,000 a year and one, Lynn P. Talley of Dallas, Tex., assistant to the directors, who is down for $12,500 a year—more than Chairman Jones himself or any of the other board members. Talley at present is on leave without pay because of extended illness.

But RFC is a big outfit and seems to need costly men to handle a line of credit extended partly to private agencies and partly to government agencies to a grand total of $9,832,470,000. Of its total loans, $5,227,877,000 has been repaid.

Ducks In for Lunch.

THE government has discovered that wild ducks like free lunches. Federal supervisors of the Roaches Run duck sanctuary near the capital started tagging ducks to learn their migration habits. Now Superintendent Paul Hodge reports that it takes a free lunch to lure them into a trap so their legs can be banded.

"One old drake, walks into the big net trap every time it is baited," he says. "We throw him out, and he just stands around until we put free feed inside. Then he promptly gets himself trapped again. Lots of the ducks are repeaters."

How They Talk.

Comment from the statesmen:

"Many 'inevitable' wars have never happened."—W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada.

"It will probably be some incident at sea that will precipitate our entry into another war."—Captain Clarence N. Hinkamp of the navy.

"The nation has already reached its capacity, or peak consumption (of alcoholic liquor) and is now topping off."—Gene Tunney.

* * *

And it may help you to understand why they campaigned so hotly in New York if you remember that 27,000 state jobs were at stake.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Nov. 14, 1918.

Private Ray Gutchall, of near Plymouth, was the 10th Richland county soldier to be killed in France. His name was in the casualty list.

George Ball, 231 East Fourth street, dropped dead preparing to start on a hunting trip.

Movings included C. C. Cook from 139 Blanche street to Ashland; and W. H. Walsh from 142 West Sixth street to Hancock Heights.

Mrs. Kitty Ford Neuman was in charge of the Children's Story Hour at the library.

A. J. Roth, Joe Doerman, Peter Dekrell, Marion Hammett and C. S. Wilson of Mansfield caught 67 pounds of fish in one hour at Port Huron.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Nov. 14, 1933.

President Roosevelt and Al Smith had a friendly chat in the White House.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon, North Weldon avenue, observed their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Jane Williams entertained at party for Mrs. Edward Mattox, who before her recent marriage was Miss Margaret Spain.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this day in 1883 the inhabitants of this country were treated to the most spectacular display of shooting stars ever seen in the heavens. Many persons were terror-struck, imagining the world was coming to an end.

Looking Toward Congress Session

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — One of the best things President Roosevelt could do, if he gets some authority to reorganize the government, would be to combine the commerce and labor departments, according to Washington observers who like to dish up some sound logic occasionally.

Commerce and labor were united until 1913 and if industry and labor are supposed to get together and reconcile their differences in the public interest, the move might start within the government that, as organized at present, tacitly recognizes their divergent interests and appears as the advocate of both. And what an opportunity for the president to name a cabinet officer worthy of the confidence of both capital and labor!

* * *

REGULATION of terminal produce markets will be a lively subject in the next congress, with chances in favor of legislation blending federal and state authority in a corporate setup to operate physical facilities.

Senator L. J. Frazier of North Dakota, has sponsored a bill for three years hand-running to set up a national marketing corporation but that smacks of purchase and sale by the government, and the most effective opposition has been working with Mayor LaGuardia of New York and trade representatives on voluntary measures but not getting very far.

* * *

A MOVE is on foot to revamp air express service, with establishment of air parcel post the probable outcome. Both the civil aeronautics authority and the air lines, though not ready to act yet, are interested. Out of its present pick-up-and-delivery arrangement with air lines, the Railway Express Agency gets only 12 per cent of the revenue and—cool to shunting traffic from the rails—has practically dropped promotion of its air service.

Pan American Airways, which depends on Railway Express to round up much of its package traffic to South America, is anxious for a change.

* * *

A REAL showdown confronts Administrator Elmer F. Andrews. Employers want to know why they can't legally cut wages on a work-week over 44 hours and use the savings to pay time-and-a-half for overtime, thus continuing the status quo.

Andrews admits that the law merely says that cutting wages as a result of the act shall not be justified. Accordingly, he rules that overtime must be computed on going wages, not reduced wages. Many employers are advised by counsel that the law is merely a congressional wish and that Andrews' ruling would not be upheld in court. They think it is doubtful if congress can, constitutionally, freeze wages by forbidding cuts. A test case is likely. Unions will cast around for an amendment if labor loses out in the supreme court.

* * *

AT ONE end of Pennsylvania avenue a group of treasury tax experts is developing data to support legislation abolishing tax-free securities. At the other end, specialists of the joint congressional committee are digging up arguments against the proposal.

This latter group has the active support of an array of municipal officers, camped in Washington, who do not want one per cent added to the interest rate they will have to pay. They argue that there is no way [illegible] tax federal bonds. If the change is made, the revenue would go to the states, not to cities.

* * *

AS THE foundation of an intensive analysis of the steel industry by the temporary national economic committee, a questionnaire developed jointly by the department of justice and the federal trade commission will go out very soon. Capacity, production, shipments and prices will be explored in all their ramifications. T. N. E. C. is not pursuing its inquiry industry by industry. Steel has been selected for exhaustive treatment because it constitutes such a fundamental part of the whole industrial structure.

* * *

OF ALL the election results the most significant so far as business in general and manufacturers in particular are concerned involves labor relations and the sitdown strike.

Outside of New York President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins were more interested in the campaign of Governor Frank Murphy than anything else. Further, Roosevelt's injection of his own blessing on Murphy in that fight was tied up with Murphy's actions in condoning the automobile sitdown strikes, and served to crystalize them as a paramount issue.

* * *

MURPHY'S overwhelming defeat alone is significant, but its importance is enhanced if one looks at a few independent figures, particularly the fact that Murphy's vote in Detroit and in Flint was much smaller than two years ago, BEFORE his sitdown strike activities.

Also the votes in that other big administration upset Ohio, where New Dealers Sawyer and Bulkley did not roll up the expected leads in the industrial centers of Cleveland, Akron and Youngstown. Which is even more significant if one recalls that Akron's vote alone, had it been subtracted from the total, would have renominated Governor Davey.

* * *

VICE PRESIDENT GARNER had his first split with President Roosevelt over federal handling of sitdown strikes. It has been a little discussed issue between the White House and the congressional conservatives ever since. Those conservatives have now been reinforced. In addition they have had the proof that politically Jack Garner was right, entirely aside from the merits of the case. Which spells a different line of action on Capitol Hill from now on.

Which is not to say that the new Republicans are what would have been called conservatives a while back. Many of them are Townsendites. But political expediency no longer dictates kowtowing to C. I. O. tactics.

Health Advice

Kidney Stone Cause and Treatment.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

BESIDES the kidney changes which affect more or less all the cells of the kidneys and are grouped under the head of Bright's disease, there are disturbances in the kidneys which affect only a few of the cells, or do not affect their function at all.

One of these is stone. Stones form in the pelvis of the kidney, that sac or lake into which all the kidney tubules empty and which itself empties into ureters, those conduits which convey the urine to the bladder. Stones form as the result of the precipitation of urinary salts.

Has Long History.

Kidney and bladder stones have always afflicted mankind. We have records going back to the earliest times. Probably it was more common in other days than now, for there was a large profession of surgeons who did nothing else but "cut for the stone." It must have been a ghastly procedure in days without anaesthesia or asepsis.

The formation of a stone is no more mysterious than the formation of rock candy when a string is let down into a class containing a solution of sugar. Two elements are necessary—a foreign body and a concentration of salts in solution in a liquid. The urine always has salts in solution. The foreign body is usually a group of bacteria, or some kidney cells desquamated as a result of infection. Rosenow has produced stones by infecting the teeth of dogs with germs found in the kidney pelvis of patients with stone.

The concentration of salts in the urine has been considered another factor. But injection of crystals in the blood stream has not resulted in the experimental production of stones. Diet seems to have nothing to do with it, although deficiency of vitamin A has been suggested. As lack of this vitamin also predisposes to [illegible], that may be its role. In olden days children had stone frequently. Now it is less frequent, perhaps because they live on a better balanced diet.

The outstanding symptom of stone is colic. The cause of the colic is the stone going from the pelvis of the kidney into the ureter, down to the bladder. The smaller the stone, the more likely it is to enter the ureter and cause colic.

The X-ray shows a stone in about 90 per cent of cases.

Treatment of stone offers today all the refinements of modern medical science. The acute attack can be relieved by morphine. When the condition is serious enough to threaten health, modern surgery is painless and very safe.

Can't Dissolve Stone.

Attempts to "dissolve the stone" are never successful. Any chemical which will dissolve a stone will also dissolve the kidney.

But if the chemical composition of the stone is known, much can be done to prevent recurrence. For oxalate stone, an acid reaction of the urine should be maintained and foods containing oxalates—tea, coffee, cocoa, rhubarb, spinach, beans, currants and figs—should be avoided. For the rare uric acid stones, the urine should be kept alkaline, and the diet used in gout instituted.

Drinking large quantities of mineral water and visits to spas have always been found helpful.

As Others See It

Here's An Idea.

A Nebraska proposal would finance pensions for the aged from profits of slot machines. Easier perhaps would be to to give the pensioner the slot machine and a license to operate.—Detroit News.

A Farmer's Diary

The Belling.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THERE was a wedding in our neighborhood last week. All the young people looked forward, a few days later, to the customary serenade, or "belling."

We farmers never count the marriage ceremony quite complete until all the ancient cowbells in the neighborhood, the old dishpans, resounding skillets, tin horns and improvised bass drums are brought by deft players to the home of the bride and bridegroom. Here, in the darkness, the crowd remains outside, while casual-seeming messengers are sent into the house to determine the whereabouts of the newlyweds.

Many times the elusive couple are found hiding in the garden or in the barn, and brought bodily before the waiting, shouting, belling crowd. The bride is shy and seems embarrassed, sometimes even weeps. The bridegroom feigns anger or delight, whichever mood seems best to suit the temper of the crowd. The revelers are then invited in, and treated to refreshments and entertainment.

On this occasion, the bridegroom, by permission, went to the country store and brought back candy bars and fresh-made cider. He introduced his wife to the giggling crowd, cleverly detailing some individual peculiarity of each guest as he was formally presented to the bride.

Of one couple of uncertain age, who have gone together for many years, he said, "Here's Sally Rand and her fiance, whom we hope will soon follow our good example."

"Sally" acted coy and hid her face behind a slender hand.

"So sudden!" she murmured, while the crowd roared with delight.

It was a fun-loving wholesome group that gathered at our neighbor's house that night, to welcome the founders of a brand new home, and wish them well.

Young America Asks—

Should a Wife Handle Family Finances?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

MODERN YOUTH once more hurls a bomb! Comes young wife Mrs. J. C. McClure of Chicago, defying all domestic tradition with the query—

"Should a wife handle all the family finances? That is, should she receive husband's pay check and apportion it as she sees fit or should he give her only an ample allowance for household and personal expenses?

"I know any number of men who turn their salary directly over to wives and all the money they ever see thereafter is just enough change each morning to cover lunch, smokes and carfare. In this case the wife always takes care of rent as well as all smaller bills. If they dine out, he receives money for the check just before leaving home, and likewise when attending a movie, he shifts nervously about at the ticket window while she counts out the change from her purse. It must surely be embarrassing.

"I believe wives should take only a housekeeping share of the weekly income and trust friend husband to do his own budgeting—unless he can't trust himself. He will get a glow of satisfaction out of the feeling that he is master of his own home—and also of himself!"

Mrs. J. C. McClure, age 27,
Chicago, Il.
($10 prize winner)

That's telling them, sister—but may we suggest that you keep your gasmask handy, for if we know our female sex, there's MASS MURDER in them thar words! There is no tradition more cherished by the feminine fraternity—no conviction more deeply rooted—than the notion that WIVES ARE FINANCIAL WIZARDS. And, as such, should have undisputed command over the budget.

Why? They just are—that's why! By womanly reasoning, no evidence is needed to support this statement. A married woman automatically becomes an economic expert—exactly as a mother automatically becomes an authority on child psychology and diet. To even inquire into My Lady's personal fitness for either position is lese-majesty. And if you don't believe me, try it on Mrs. Murphy!

The plain truth, of course, is that both theories are simple Bosh. It's as impossible to become a good manager or a good mother by making merely vows or giving birth as to become a good plumber by buying a toothbrush holder. And—thank heaven—the days when wives got by on such sentimental flap-doodle are drawing to an end.

To many of us, this seems a pity. It shouldn't. Those days weren't half as joyous as we like to think they were. Those old-fashioned homes were Anything But havens of health and happiness! To the contrary, many an adoring mother literally murdered her babes by her ignorance—drove her husband to despair by her complacent stupidity.

The simple fact is—EFFICIENT WIFEHOOD AND MOTHERHOOD REQUIRE SOUND INTELLIGENCE AND EXPERT TRAINING. A woman without business experience is utterly unfit to manage her husband's pay roll . . . and the man who permits her to do so, has only himself to blame for the disastrous consequences. The state requires a license for marriage—but that license doesn't go far enough. It should be more than an expression of honorable intent . . . IT SHOULD BE A GUARANTEE OF EFFICIENT SERVICE.

The home is not only the most sacred institution in the land—it is also the most important economic unit. Badly run homes mean a badly run nation. Wasteful homes mean a bankrupt nation. We've no more right to allow untrained young nincompoops to set up housekeeping than to allow teething babes to handle dynamite.

Should a wife handle the family finances?

NOT UNLESS SHE HAS WHAT IT TAKES!

MORE hotel chatter: One of the midtown hostelries is justly proud of its Green room. And a rival inn is just as proud of its Blue room. However, the orchestra in the Green room is Blue Barron's. What the matter with giving Johnny Green a shot at the Blue room?

Still another hotel, and a big one, provides such excellent chaperonage for young women traveling alone that girls' schools frequently make mass reservations for their students when major football games or other events call them to the city. Their rooms are assigned and a matron checks up each night at curfew.

Another big midtown inn, in redecorating its vast dine-and-dance salon, gave the decorator one instruction: The lighting, color, furnishings must be the most flattering to feminine complexions that can be found. I was just about to say that's carrying the bow to feminine vanity a bit too far but it isn't really. What would a dance-and-dine spot be without ladies—and what would the ladies be without beauty and charm.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

CHAPTER 45

"Sterling, the guy who made Abbey's heart jump rope for a while, didn't forget her, even if he didn't take her up on that idea that he should divorce his wife to marry her," Ronald went on speaking as he faced Judy at the small table in a corner of the coffee shop.

"The trouble was that Abbey forgot him. She went to Europe and decided she preferred a count, one with a castle and a crest and minus a wife. He liked the idea, too. You know all about the engagement to Count Phillippe. You were in on the wedding plans and the final explosion.

"What you don't know is that this bozo, Sterling, had saved Abbey's letters. Smart guy. Figured he might have use for them. He wanted to make Abbey buy them. She came to me about it and I almost got down on my knees to beg her to do nothing. She convinced me the letters weren't dangerous. But she was frantic.

"Well, so far as I knew Abbey had obeyed my instructions. Say, what are you looking so all wise about?" He broke off to add.

"Nothing," Judy said, picking up her coffee cup and burning her tongue on the hot liquid. But she had a reason. Now she understood why Ronald and Abbey had consulted together so secretively that morning at breakfast at the Boland estate. She knew why there were other conferences. Maybe the man who slipped into the shadows on Christmas eve, the man whose identity Abbey was protecting, had been this Gregg Sterling.

Ronald wasn't convinced. "You look as though you were putting pieces of a puzzle together. Where did you scent the mystery?"

"I'll tell you some other time. Go on now."

"Well, Sterling was disgusted because he couldn't cash in. He thought the game was up when the Count walked out. Who was I that Abbey would care if I knew? Besides, I knew already and had been advising her.

"Now we come to the part that I didn't know.

"Sterling went to a professional blackmailer and sold those letters to him for a certain sum. This man figured that I wouldn't want Abbey's former romance revealed because I now had an interest in the young lady, so I'd advise her differently. But Abbey didn't tell me about the change in crooks because she didn't know about it herself.

"She saw Sterling, and, unknown to me, gave him some money. That whetted his appetite, especially since he now had to divide with the blackmailer. This bozo was using him as a go-between. Abbey didn't know that. Sterling, at the blackmailer's request, asked Abbey to fix a time and place from me where I could be seen. That's where your apartment came in Sterling, getting cold feet, didn't come. He gave the information to the blackmailer, who happened around next night. He had met Abbey, who didn't know his past. She thought he was someone whom Sterling dragged along. Now he met her again, explanned a little more, and collected.

"Abbey realized what she had done when it was too late. She had played into their hands. So she phoned me. You know—in my office the other night. The blackmailer was already being checked up on two more important scores. Those letters of the alphabet that you got, while having no bearing on this case, identified him as the man who had sent notes in the others.

"See how it all worked together? Meantime, he and the guy who first owned Abbey's letters quarreled over their split. Abbey has the gems back—by gems I mean letters. I advised her to burn them at once."

"But you are no nearer a solution than ever," Judy said, when the recital was finished.

"Not much. This guy Sterling hates me like poison, though. Thinks I put a spook in his game. It might be that he—but that's just a fancy."

"It's worth working on. Told it to the officers?"

"I dropped a hint."

Judy went to the salon and worked until eight that night. Not because she needed to make up time, but because she couldn't think when she worked. The most important question of all she had not asked Ronald. She could not ask him if he and Abbey had made up that strange engagement, and if it held real significance.

* * *

At nine o'clock she went into a white-tiled cafeteria near her own apartment. She ordered a bowl of soup, found some iced fruit, and took a glass of milk from the beverage counter. She was tired.

The day had held surprises. She had worked hard, only to discover she had been helping Abbey. But what of it? If it relieved Ronald's mind, she mustn't care.

Wearily she went down the street to her own apartment house. A car was parked in front of it.

"We always are locked out!"

Judy went to the side of the car. "Marjorie and Bob! Come in! Come up!"

Bob shook his head. "No, that's what we want you to do Move over, Marge. There's room for three, Judy."

She climbed in. "You look adorable, Marjorie. That's a stunning violet toque. Where are we going?"

"Ever hear of Greenwich?" Bob asked.

Judy nodded, eyes amused. "Tonight?"

"Tonight! A reporter has to grab what time he can get for things like meals, and sleep, and getting married. I have a night off and—go on, Marjorie, you're getting married, too. You talk awhile."

So the car started up to Connecticut and Judy tried to slip into the gay mood of the boy and girl who were so happy. Marjorie was radiant. Her eyes and lips and skin shone. The count was quite gone now. That was splendid. She and Bob would have a happy-go-lucky life.

As though he knew what she was thinking, Bob said: "I can't offer Marjorie a roof tree and a garden and ancestral teacups A good, fat trunk so she can pack in a hurry is my best bet. You 'see. I may be sent anywhere. I'm a rover, a wanderer, a news mongrel—"

"Silly nut!" Marjorie's voice made the words divine. "It's going to be heaven!"

It would be heaven, Judy knew. Heaven was anywhere that you and the one you loved and who loved you lived together. Only two could sight Paradise, though. It was never a lonely land. It was there, waiting. She knew. For a brief moment she had thought she held a key—then the tide swept it down stream.

"I'm getting a foreign assignment in a day or two," Bob said more seriously after a little while. "That's why the sudden haste. You'l find a few of the gang from the Press falling in line as we pass the office It may be morning before the wedding celebration ends. Mind, Judy?"

* * *

Judy had thought that she would ask Bob's advice about the situation that involved Ronald. She didn't. though. He was so filled with his own plans that she knew it would be dismissed lightly. He would intend to give it serious attention—and never again think about it.

Greenwich. Marriage. Simple, dignified words that bound Marjorie and Bob together. For how long? Judy wondered why she let that doubt arise. Couldn't she ever banish it? Would she always be distrustful of marriage? And if she was, why did she believe with such certainty that there was no happiness for her—if Ronald's train shot under the Hudson tunnel, rolled across the flat plains of New Jersey to Philadelphia, and swung southward to Washington and the southern land he loved?

Four-Day Cooking School to Open At Ohio Theater Tuesday

At the psychological moment, just as the homemakers were wondering what in the world to have "new" on the Thanksgiving and Christmas menus, comes the announcement that The News-Journal's second cooking school this year will be held at the Ohio theater starting tomorrow.

And there are new things on the four-day schedule that Miss Ruth Chambers, lecturer, has announced, as well as some very substantial dishes that will come in handy this winter when ideas for the family's meals begin to run down.

The News-Journal's fall cooking school continues through Friday with a session each morning from 9 to 11:30.

Miss Chambers is no stranger to Mansfield housewives as she conducted the school here last spring. She is a member of the National Live Stock and Meat Board of Chicago

Mansfield merchants and national wholesalers of food products are co-operating to make the school the "best one yet," Miss Elizabeth Rucker will assist Miss Chambers.

Recipes In Booklets.

Miss Chambers has planned her schedules so that stress is laid on the main dishes of a meal and the desserts. Each day there will be new recipes given and demonstrated in the making. Booklets containing each day's recipes, as well as many others, will be presented to those who attend the school.

She stresses meat dishes, since these are the most essential to any meal, and is an exponent of slow, dry heat for good cuts, with no cover over the meat.

Each day will bring a different sort of program. For the opening tomorrow she will talk on "Easy Meals for Busy Days," stressing foods that can be prepared without too much trouble, placed in the oven and forgotten for a few hours.

The second day's menu will be designed especially for the woman who considers her figure but doesn't go in for fad diets. The dishes prepared will be substantial but with a minimum of calloric count.

On Thursday Miss Chambers will lecture on "Menus In The Modern Manner," and the recipes contain such intriguing names as French fried rice balls, cherry dumplings, veal shoulder roast with peach dressing, sirloin pork roll and red flannel hash.

Foods For Company.

Particularly interesting will be the final day's menu on Friday when "Foods For Friends at Company Time" is the theme. She will talk on such interesting dishes as cranberry fritters, macaroon apricot mold, cottage cheese ring and peppermint candy cake

The dishes that are made at the school will be shown to the audience with the aid of mirrors and after the session they will be given to persons in the audience.

The school is free to women of Mansfield and vicinity—in fact it is being held to please them.

Scattergood's Aid Housewives to Dress Up Homes

With the "Foods of the Hour" cooking school opening tomorrow and the Thanksgiving holiday only 10 days away, Mansfield housewives are turning their attention to dressing up their homes, and especially their kitchens and dining rooms.

Leaders in the home furnishing business for years, Scattergood's at Third and Walnut streets is widely known for table linens and lace covers.

A number of new styles have been received by the store in preparation for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons, and even the most discriminating housewife can find a design to please her.

A separate department of the store is devoted to custom-made service in curtains and draperies, where exclusive designs are made to answer the requirements of homes of varying types. John N. Sensback is manager of the department.

Scattergood's department for ready-made curtains and draperies contains a large variety of patterns and materials at prices for every purse.

After she has visited the cooking school at the Ohio theater, the housewife will find it easy to choose home furnishings at Scattergoods to put the ideas she obtains into practice

New Crane Sink Combines Beauty And Convenience

Nothing gives the kitchen that modern touch so effectively as a distinctive Crane sink which brings convenience as well as beauty to the home

Sold in Mansfield by the Charles Hoffman company, 30 West Fourth street, Crane sinks and plumbing equipment will appeal immediately to women who attend the "Foods of the Hour" cooking school, opening Tuesday morning at the Ohio theater

At the Hoffman showrooms on West Fourth street, kitchen plumbing equipment is displayed in model room arrangements where the prospective buyer can see just how the fixtures will look in her home

The Crane Sunny Day sink, one of the features of the Hoffman display, provides such conveniences as a swinging spout, vegetable spray, depressed drain boards, cup strainer and roomy storage cabinets

Available in several sizes and models, the Sunny Day line of sinks will delight any housewife who knows what it means to have kitchen equipment that saves steps and makes her chores lighter.

Natural Flavors, Colors Preserved In 'Frozen' Foods

One of the forward steps in modern food preservation is the comparatively new method of "freezing" the most delicate fruits and vegetables and thus preserving the natural colors and flavors until they are to be used.

It is quite probable that the delicate green peas your hostess served for dinner were frozen for weeks before she served them or that the golden corn, looking and tasting as though it had just come from the field, was really "frosted"

One of the first merchants in Mansfield to bring housewives the frosted fruits and vegetables was the Arbaugh grocery, Lexington avenue. And it will be their "Honor Brand" of fruits and vegetables that will be used in The News-Journal's cooking school this week.

Arbaugh's have also installed a modern refrigerator which will be adequate to hold their large supply of foods.

Good Appearance Pays Dividends, Lecturer Says

Personal appearance means so much today that regular dry cleaning is an investment that pays big dividends to every housewife, says Miss Ruth Chambers, noted economist and lecturer at The News-Journal Foods of the Hour cooking school which opens at the Ohio theater tomorrow.

Morgan's dry cleaning service at 339 West Fourth street has complete facilities and skilled workmen for the finest in dry cleaning.

Morgan's also operate a fur store at 57 South Diamond street where the smartest styles in fur coats can be found.

A fur expert is on hand to guarantee proper restyling, repairing and remodeling of fur garments and assure the most particular housewife of perfect matching of pelts and careful workmanship.

La Choy Products Simplify Making Of Chinese Dishes

There was a time when the thought of making Chinese chop suey brought to the mind of the housewife visions of a dozen pans, hours over the stove, fussing with a variety of hard. to obtain ingredients, and finally—turning out a dish which might not be a palate tempter.

In the past few years, however, ingenious home economists and gourmets have perfected La Choy ingredients which will be displayed beginning Tuesday at the News-Journal cooking school at the Ohio theater. These ingredients have simplified the making of Chinese delicacies, and now assure the cook of perfection in every recipe.

Chop suey and chow mein have many qualities that recommend them highly to the busy housekeeper They are ideal one-dish meals of low cost, high nutritive value and low caloric count. As a method of using up left-overs, there is no better way, and for a simple and appetizing way of serving a meal to the family or a party, there is nothing more satisfying than a Chinese dish made with one of the La Choy products which are available at all grocers.

Cooking, Diets Her Specialty

Miss Ruth Chambers, above, food lecturer and dietician, returns to Mansfield this week for The News-Journal cooking school at the Ohio theater. Miss Chambers conducted the school here last spring. She brings a "Foods of the Hour" cooking school to Mansfield housewives for four mornings starting Tuesday. The sessions will run from 9 to 11:30 a. m., with a different program each day.

Page's Milk Selected For Use At Cooking School

Pigs are pigs according to Ellis Parker Butler, famous humorist, but milk is not milk. That is there are various grades and qualities of milk, just as there are of peas or beef, and only the superior grades are satisfactory for use in the home that boasts a well-balanced diet.

Miss Ruth Chambers, demonstrator for The News-Journal cooking school which opens tomorrow at the Ohio theater, has selected Page Dairy products for the school. Page dairy foods are made under rigid sanitary rules from first quality ingredients.

Page's milk is bottled in containers that guarantee purity, and safeguard the contents during handling and delivery. Numerous laboratory tests assure low bacteria count, and careful handling in the dairy preserves the natural goodness of the milk.

Other Page products are ice cream, cream and Kleen-Maid creamery butter. Each dairy product distributed by this firm is submitted to rigid tests, and careful regulation to assure safety and purity at all times.

Rickets, Nichols Print Cooking School Programs

Rickets and Nichols, one of the oldest job printing shops in the city, is responsible for the printing of the daily programs and recipes which are given to visitors each day at The News-Journal cooking school

Each day's booklet, which is a handy size for filing away for future reference, has been made up with a different pastel shade.

The printing company, located on the second floor of The News-Journal building, prints several school papers and offers job printing of all kinds.

Ward's Will Show Trio of Time-Savers

A trio of time-savers and conveniences for the housewife — Ward's pressure cooker, washer and ironer—will be displayed and demonstrated at The News-Journal's cooking school, beginning Tuesday morning at the Ohio theater, by Montgomery Ward and company's Mansfield store.

Recognized leaders in their fields, the Ward household appliances have all the latest features that go into the making of a more modern and efficient home.

Ward's pressure cooker, which will be demonstrated at the cooking school, may be used for baking or stewing and is said to cook three times as fast as any other method. It may be used over any type of heat, it retains the full flavor and nouriahing qualities of food, and it makes possible the preparation of an entire meal over one burner.

Made of heavy cast aluminum, the cooker contains two twin pans for baking or stewing, a pan for cooking vegetables and a ventilation rack.

One of the features of the display of household equipment at the food show will be Ward's new all-white washer, equipped with silent mechanism, Lovell wringer and the new "swirlator" type agitator.

The washer's channel tub sets up additional currents that swirl through the clothes, cleansing them in shorter time. The washer cleans white clothes in from five to seven minutes.

Ward's ironer has the exclusive "full floating roll" designed to do a more thorough job with less bother. Built of chrome steel, the ironer is controlled by two switches and may be operated either with the hand or the knee.

New Uhlich Bread, 'Snow White' To Be Used at School

Last year Uhlich's "Town Talk" bread made a host of friends and by the closing date of the News-Journal cooking school which opens at the Ohio theater tomorrow, Uhlich's new "Snow White" bread is expected to be sharing the limelight with its predecessor

Nourishing and wholesome, this pure white loaf will be demonstrated at the cooking school The loaf, a companion to the now familiar Town Talk bread, is made at the bakery which is located at 429 Springmill street, and is distributed by Mansfield independent grocers

In addition to bread, the company makes a variety of rolls and pastries to satisfy every buyer. These, too, may be purchased fresh daily from the grocers.

NEW MINITIANO PIANO TO BE DISPLAYED AT COOKING SCHOOL

One of the most revolutionary instruments in the musical world will be displayed at The News-Journal Cooking School opening tomorrow at the Ohio theater. The instrument called a Minitiano is a spinet style piano of the electronic type. Its tone is such that it can be amplified by electricity to the tonal quality of a concert grand.

This instrument will be used to play musical selections preceding the morning lectures by Miss Ruth Chambers, home economist and demonstrator. The Minitiano was first used in Mansfield at the Police Ball early last month by Ace Brigode.

It is manufactured by the Hardman company and is considered by musicians and dealers as one of the most revolutionary contributions to the field. The W. E. Jones Piano House is placing the piano in the theater for demonstration purposes during the school.

A complete kitchen and a dining room setting also are being arranged on the stage by the Jones store. Kitchen furniture is by Sellers and Mutchler manufacturing companies, and the dining room furnishings are made by Berkey and Gay.

Another feature of the show will be the Chambers Stove which will be used for the preparation of the recipes Miss Chambers gives her audience. This stove cooks an entire meal after the gas has been turned off.

It is extremely economical because it is so highly insulated that the heat from gas burned for 30 minutes is retained long enough to finish cooking the foods.

Other articles of furniture including a complete nursery unit will be displayed in the lobby of the theater.

'WHAT WILL WE EAT?' COOKING SCHOOL LECTURER HAS ANSWERS

After trotting all over the country telling women how to cook things that their "menfolks" and their bridge guests will "yum-yum" over, Miss Ruth Chambers, who came to Mansfield today to conduct a four-day cooking school at the Ohio Theater for The News-Journal, really knows most of the answers to that good old query, "And what will we eat?"

Miss Chambers is well known as a writer and radio speaker. She has been a leader in research work in meat cookery, and has worked with the U. U. Department of Agriculture and home economists of leading state universities and colleges.

Many News-Journal readers are already acquainted with Miss Chambers who conducted the Food Fashion Revue here last spring. During the past few weeks recipes by Miss Chambers have appeared on the weekly food page of this paper.

The lectures which Miss Chambers will give four mornings this week starting tomorrow will appeal both to the new cook and the experienced homemaker for she offers simple, easy, but correct methods of preparing foods and she presents the most modern ideas in food cookery and serving.

Miss Chambers, with her years of experience as home economist and demonstrator for a number of firms, is well versed in the needs of the average housewife. She plans her lectures on the basis of preparing menus and dishes suitable for the average family and the average pocketbook.

Although she offers fancy foods for party fare, she also gives recipes for stable, vitamin-filled dishes to be served to Daddy and Johnny and Mary.

New Petro-lox Wave Featured By Maurice Shop

Are you one of the women who sadly wails: "Oh, I need a new permanent so badly, but I just dread the heat?" If you are, your troubles are over, for in connection with the Foods of the Hour cooking school sponsored by The News-Journal, the Maurice Beauty shop is featuring a new Petro-lox wave.

Miss Ruth Chambers, noted home economist who will lecture at the school which opens at the Ohio theatre tomorrow, has endorsed this machineless wave which has no wires, no electrical gadgets and is one of the simplest and most comfortable methods yet devised

The Petro-lox is a long lasting wave and a hairdress which is not destroyed by the comb and brush.

Maurice is a member of the Lady America Guild, leader in fashionable hair styles and as soon as new fashions are shown in the capitals of the United States and Europe he has them and is prepared to copy them for his patrons.

Domino Sugars Available Now For Every Need

Modern science and the demand of particular cooks and hostesses has in the past century brought sugar to its highest point of refinement. Today, no matter what sweetening is sought, the manufacturers of Domino sugar have the exact package.

In medieval times sugar was used as medicine, later it became a luxury available to the wealthy and aristocratic only. But in this age we select sugars to serve every need for we find that much more economical and pleasing.

For sweetening the demi-tasse there are tablets, squares and cubes, for making cake icing the box of Domino Confectioners is always on the front of the shelf. The breakfast fruit is given a deliciously sweet taste with the improved Domino superfine powdered which has the quality of dissolving in hot or cold drinks quickly.

Then for the gingerbread or baked ham there's Domino Old Fashioned Brown Sugar, and for butterscotch fillings there is Domino Yellow Sugar. Today's cook, like Miss Ruth Chambers who will open the News-Journal cooking school at 9 a. m Tuesday at the Ohio theater, choose sweetenings to fit the dish.

Motorola Radio To Be Displayed At Cooking School

Radio has become as much an essential in the home as any other piece of furniture, and in the kitchen it helps to make the hours shorter and the tasks lighter.

The new Motorola table and console models, sold in Mansfield by the Goodrich Silvertown store, East Fourth and Diamond streets, will be displayed in the lobby and on the stage at the Ohio theater during the four-day "Foods of the Hour" cooking school which opens Tuesday morning.

The acoustinotor, one of the latest developments in radio, is a feature of the Motorola models. It enables the human ear to hear broadcast programs with the same accuracy of tone that would be possible in a broadcasting studio.

Motorola engineers have produced features in their latest models that shade, or subdue, the tones that would otherwise be harsh and place the proper emphasis on the reproduction of music.

In addition to the home model radios, Motorola produces outstanding automobile sets that helped to make the Motorola name famous

OHIO RANKS EIGHTH IN NATION IN PRODUCTION OF ALL MEATS

The state of Ohio produces approximately 750 million pounds of meat annually, according to Howard H. White of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, here to address an audience of retail dealers in connection with The News-Journal "Foods of the Hour" cooking school which opens tomorrow.

"Ohio leads 40 other states in the annual production of all meats," said White. "It is fifth among all states in the production of both pork and lamb and 11th in the production of beef and veal. Ohio ranks fourth among all states in the meat animal population. On January 1, this year, there were 5 million, 764 thousand head of cattle, hogs and sheep on Ohio farms

"The income from the sale of meat animals in Ohio last year was $123,150,000. Of this total, 60 per cent was from the sale of hogs, 33 per cent from the sale of beef cattle, and 7 per cent from the sale of sheep and lambs."

An average of 16 billion pounds of meat is consumed annually in this country, each year, according to this meat specialist. In other words, an average of 15 million pounds of steaks chops, roasts and stews is consumed in the average meal.

"Studies carried out in recent years at colleges and universities," said Mr. White, "have brought out a wealth of new information concerning meat. One of the results has been a revolution in meat cookery methods. We now know that high temperatures in cooking meat are wasteful of both meat and fuel and result in a less palatable product. Studies have alsown that meat is valuable in the reducing diet. At Rush Medical College, Chicago, a group of over-weight persons lost weight at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds per month on a diet built around lean meat. They enjoyed their meals and improved in health during the reducing period."

Modern Housewife Finds Comfortable Shoes Essential

While not usually considered "kitchen equipment," comfortable footwear is an essential for the housewife if she is to give her best to the home

Known for years for their quality and comfort, Enna Jettick shoes will be featured during the four days of The News-Journal's cooking school, beginning tomorrow morning, by the Liberty Shoe Store, 57 North Main street

Made from high quality materials by scientific methods that set them apart from the average "comfort" shoe, Enna Jetticks are available in a number of new fall styles for the housewife who needs foot comfort during her long day.

The Liberty Shoe Store gives special attention to proper fitting to provide complete and lasting satisfaction in shoes. Several famous brands for men, women and children are handled by the Liberty store. A special downstairs is devoted to children's shoes.

Electrolux Gas Refrigerators In 12th Year

In the past 11 years more than one million Serval Electrolux gas refrigerators have been sold in this country, and are now serving their owners with silent, dependable refrigeration.

This year, Serval Inc., manufacturers of Electrolux gas refrigerators, celebrated the 11th anniversary of the making of the first gas refrigerator with an outstanding sales record.

Most responsible for this ever-increasing popularity of the gas refrigerator is its entirely different principle of operation. A tiny gas flame replaces all moving parts in its freezing system. Silently, this flame circulates the common refrigerant, maintaining constant cold storage compartment and freezing an abundance of sparkling ice cubes.

As a result of this advanced refrigerating principle, all moving parts that wear out and require costly replacement are eliminated in the freezing system, assuring longer life of trouble-free service.

Gas refrigeration is the most economical of modern refrigerating methods. Actual surveys among Servel Electrolux owners of a year or more reveal the average cost to be less than two cents a day.

The new Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator will be displayed at the News-Journal Foods of the Hour cooking school which opens at the Ohio theater tomorrow and continues through Friday.

Antique Utensils Cause of Many Culinary Failures

The kitchen of today pictured beside the kitchen of yesterday brings smiles from most women, yet many of them are still preparing meals with obsolete equipment.

Really there is no need for using battered, broken, and unsuitable pans, pots and utensils in an otherwise spotlessly modern kitchen. Miss Ruth Chambers, who will give the lectures at The News-Journal Cooking school says. She will use the latest type utensils when she is preparing her meals.

Part of the success of her cookery lies in the fact that she uses the correct equipment. Many a housewife's culinary failure can be traced to antique cutlery and pans. In connection with the cooking school the Martin Hardware company, headquarters for household equipment, is putting special emphasis on the various modern pieces.

This store carries a complete line of Mirro aluminum, Volbrath enamelware and Pyrex-ware as well as other articles suitable and convenient for homemaking. Everything from a roaster for the holiday turkey, to a measuring spoon is available at this store.

Revenge Bride

Lillian Hope Layton, 21, Chicago "unkissed bride," is pictured as she was cleared of suspicion in the suicide of her secret husband, Richard Novick, who she married to spite her parents. She said she married Novick after losing an arm while riding in his car.

Quick Meringue

Marshmallow topping is a quickly-prepared substitute for meringue. Spread a layer of marshmallows, half inch apart, on top of the cream filling. Bake about 10 minutes in a moderately slow oven. The topping is done when the marshmallows are puffy and light brown.

One of the world's larger eating establishments is at the Texas A. and M. college, where 2,800 students are fed three meals each day.

Tappan's CP Range Has 22 New Features

Tappan is not a new name to Mansfield housewives — but the new Tappan CP gas range which makes its appearance at the News-Journal Foods of the Hour cooking school opening at the Ohio theater tomorrow will offer Mrs. Housewife an entirely new standard in cooking performance.

The letters CP which mark all new ranges regardless of trade name, stand for Certified Performance and every range bearing the seal must be equipped with 22 improved features that have been set up as a standard by the testing laboratories of the American Gas association.

The new Tappan CP range, which will be demonstrated at the school by Miss Ruth Chambers, home economist and lecturer, includes such features as automatic top-burner and oven broiler lighting which eliminates burned and singed fingers through the use of matches.

Another feature is the new dual purpose simmer top burners for waterless cooking and one or more giant high speed top burners equipped with the latest devices to cut fuel costs to a minimum.

New low oven temperature cooking with the new Tappan range eliminates meat shrinkage, while smokeless broilers eliminate smoke and grease fires and also keep the broiler clean. Improved insulation keeps in the oven heat and assures a cool kitchen even on a hot summer day.

There are only a few of the new advantages incorporated in the new Tappan CP range displayed at the Ohio Fuel Gas company on Park avenue west, distributors in this area.

Kitchen Beauty Easily Attained With S-W Paints

The kitchen, because of the vital part it plays in the preparation of meals, is the most important part of a home, and it can easily be made the cheeriest and most attractive room in any house, if the homemaker gives a little thought and a few hours of time to dressing it up.

The Sherwin-Williams company, Park avenue west, dealers in paints, varnishes and wallpapers, employ experts to assist the builder or home decorator in making the proper selection of paints and colors.

During The News-Journal Cooking School which opens at the Ohio theater tomorrow morning under the direction of Miss Ruth Chambers, the Sherwin-Williams company is presenting a display of paints and wall coverings suitable for the kitchen and other rooms of the house.

Employes of the company give advise on painting and interior finishing to turn the kitchen of yesterday into the kitchen of tomorrow. Literature describing various rooms is available at the company store room.

Satterlee's Offer Tasty Dishes For School Visitors

Housewives who plan to spend the next four days downtown attending the News-Journal Foods of the Hour cooking school which opens at the Ohio theater tomorrow will find both convenience and tasty dishes at Satterlee's restaurant in the Fourth Street Market.

Opened eight years ago with a seating capacity of only 16, Satterlee's enlarged and air-conditioned dining room now has become one of the most modern restaurants in north central Ohio.

Table and counter service is provided for the businessman or office girl who has only a limited time for meals. The menu, appetizing at all times, is changed twice daily, and features plate lunches, salads, toasted and plain sandwiches and an assortment of pies.

Only women chefs are employed and emphasis is placed on fast, efficient and courteous service.

Dinner's Not Complete Without Proper Silverware

No matter how excellent the meal, or how tasty the salad, or how delectable the dessert, there is always something missing at dinner if improper or inadequate silver is displayed.

Women attending The News-Journal Foods of the Hour cooking school at the Ohio theater this week are invited to pause in the lobby and examine the new Community, Tudor plate, Rogers Bros. 1847, and the Holmes and Edwards silverware displayed by Brenner's Jewelry company, 8 West Third street.

A Community chest of 57-piece service of the new "Coronation" pattern will be displayed at the show by Brenner's, who have been in business in Mansfield for over 27 years.

Darning cotton is better than the more slippery thread for marking perforations in paper clothing patterns.

Points Out Four Cardinal Rules For Tea Making

There is more to making tea than just pouring hot water over a pinch of tea. Much, much more, according to Miss Ruth Chambers who will conduct the News-Journal cooking school this week at the Ohio theater.

The old idea of a pinch of tea and a pint of water, letting it steep for strength, is as "out" as the dodo bird. Good tea, like good coffee, according to this expert, is a matter of precision in measuring and other preparations.

Even Salada tea, good as it is, she points out, can be ruined in the making. There are four cardinal rules for good tea:

1—Scald the pot and have it hot; 2—measure the tea making sure there are one teaspoon for each cup and "one for the pot"; 3—the water must be boiling furiously just as it is poured; 4—it must steep just five minutes, no more, no less.

Kafer's Flowers To Display Novel Table Decorations

Because flowers as table decorations have become so important a part of present day entertaining that many hostesses consider flowers fully as important as her entree or dessert, table decorations will be featured every day at The News-Journal Foods of the Hour cooking school which opens tomorrow at the Ohio theater.

Charles Kafer, proprietor of Kafer's flowers, 41 North Mulberry street, will arrange original and novel table decorations each of the four days of the school.

For his table decorations he will use flowers suitable for the Thanksgiving day table—mums, pompons, snapdragons, calendulas and sweet peas.

Kafer, who studies the trends and fashions in flowers, combines originality with prescribed floral styles for each occasion as will be seen in the lobby display created by him and which will remain throughout the four days of the show.

GAS DOESNT COST IT PAYS!

News-Journal Cooking School Goes All-Gas

For Cooking and Refrigeration In Response to Popular Demand

Gas has been selected as the fuel for both cooking and refrigeration at The News-Journal Cooking School because it is, also, the favorite of Mansfield homemakers for use in their kitchens. You'll see your favorite fuel, a Tappan gas range and a Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator used on the stage during the demonstrations at The Mansfield News-Journal Cooking School opening tomorrow at the Ohio Theater.

Packed Audiences Acclaim All-Gas Schools

Thousands of enthusiastic homemakers who pack theaters and auditoriums to witness the best in modern cookery, demand that a popular modern kitchen fuel be used in the demonstrations. They favor all-gas schools because they use gas in their own kitchens and they know the many advantages it offers. Housewives like those shown above—over 15,000,000 of them throughout the country—use gas as the kitchen fuel in their homes.

You'll Hear About It— But Never Hear It!

When you attend The News-Journal Cooking School, you'll see the famous Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator demonstrated. See it, yes, but you'll never hear it, because a gas refrigerator is completely and permanently silent. A tiny gas flame does all the work and there are no moving parts in the freezing system to wear out. Gas refrigeration is the most economical of all modern methods, costing less than 2 cents a day to operate in Mansfield. After attending the cooking school be sure to visit The Gas Company and find out more about the refrigerator you hear about—but never hear.

Miss Ruth Chambers
Lecturer

"There's Nothing Like Gas . . .

. . . for both cooking and refrigeration," says Miss Ruth Chambers, national authority on home economics and lecturer at The Mansfield News-Journal Cooking School. "I like the many new features on the modern gas range and I'm extremely enthusiastic about the gas refrigerator. I want to add my endorsement to that of millions of homemakers who have modern all-gas kitchens of their own."

Army, Navy Experts Ask 2 Billions for U. S. Defenses

PLAN SET TO DOUBLE LAST YEAR'S FUND

Cite Recent European Events as Reason for Greater Outlay for Arms.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Army and navy defense experts will recommend that President Roosevelt call upon congress to provide an outlay of $2,000,000,000 next year to provide vital war equipment to guarantee the security of the western hemisphere against foreign aggression, it was reliably reported today.

A responsible official stated to International News Service today that, in the light of recent events in Europe and the far east, last year's record national defense budget of $1,200,000,000 must be doubled this year to provide the minimum defense needs of the army, navy and air corps.

The recommendation, tentative as yet, is the result of the intensive re-study of national defenses ordered recently by President Roosevelt in the wake of the Munich "peace."

10,000 Fighting Planes.

One principal recommendation, it was learned, calls for the creation of a combined army and navy air fleet of 10,000 fighting planes of all types to match the German air armada.

Many of these planes, according to the new defense plans, would be placed in war reserve storage for instant use in an emergency.

A special "defense" tax is being studied by treasury experts as a means of financing the enormous outlay.

Salient points of the new defense plans were reported to call for:

1. Trebling of the present air corps authorization of 2,320 "front line" fighting planes, which will not be reached until the summer of 1940 under present plans, and a possible increase of the navy's authorization of 3,000 planes.

2. Major increases in army officers and enlisted personnel above the present 165,000 men and 12,000 officers, largely entailed by the projected air corps and anti-aircraft expansion. The army estimates its air corps personnel minimum need as 10 men per plane.

3. Immediate equipping of a minimum protective force of 400,000 men with essential fighting needs, including the new semi-automatic rifle, gas masks, ammunition, bombs, machine guns and medical supplies.

4. Large increases in "critical" artillery and mobile equipment, including especially tanks, anti-tank guns, automatic anti-aircraft cannon, mortars, howitzers and coast defense long-range cannon.

5. Procurement of all types of equipment and critical war reserves to equip an army of 1,000,000 men to speedily back up the initial protective force of 400,000.

6. Preparation of the nation's industries for an immediate shift over from peacetime pursuits to manufacture of war equipment and munitions.

Doomed Dalhover Offers Body For Scientific Study

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)— "Mother, if they must have my life why can't they fill me full of some germs of a dread disease and let the smart men of medicine study me until I die?" read a note Mrs. Bertha Craig said was written by her son, James Dalhoover, sentenced to die in the Michigan City sate prison electric chair early Friday.

Mrs. Craig was enroute to her Madison home today after a visit at Milan, Mich., Federal prison farm with her son, last of the Al Brady gang. Dalhoover was convicted for the slaying of Indiana state policeman Paul V. Minneman near Logansport in May, 1937, after a bank robbery.

"I don't fear death and I am not sad, yet I'd like to die in such a way that my Indiana neighbors would think well of me," the note said. It disclosed also that the convict killer had written a song "which I do not want shown to anyone until I have gone."

"Rhuel (Dalhoover's little-used first name) wants only a chance," the mother said, "to tell his own story."

When a policeman is in trouble his first thought is to find a policeman. LeRoy Coffey, chief of police of Shelby and a former Mansfield officer was unable to find his automobile Friday night after attending the Shelby-Galion football game, so he called a member of the Galion force. Two hours later they found the car two blocks from the Galion stadium.

Joe Mott, the big-hearted Shelby farmer who annually invites sportsmen to hunt on his farm and eat at his table extended his courtesy today and offered to clean all the rabbits killed on his property. What's more, he said, there won't be any charge for cleaning the animals. The only thing left for Joe to do now is to go out and bag the bunnies for his guests.

Today's chilly weather must have reminded some boy of his "Halloween Folly" when he left his coat somewhere and never found it. A corduroy jacket, for a boy about 9 or 10 years old was found the morning after Halloween on the back steps of the home of Mrs. George Hughes, 42 Sherman avenue, and to date she has not been able to find the owner. It's a good jacket and some "Johnny" probably received a lecture the next day on the high cost of carelessness but he can still square himself by identifying and claiming his jacket.

LANDON WILLING TO ACCEPT POST

G. O. P. Presidential Nominee Selected by Roosevelt for Pan-American Conference.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Alfred M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential candidate, will be one of this country's representatives next month at the Pan-American conference in Lima, Peru.

President Roosevelt's selection of his one-time political opponent and 11 other delegates was announced by the state department yesterday—less than a year after Landon pledged support to Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policies.

Secretary of State Hull will head the group. Among other members will be Miss Kathryn Lewis, daughter and confidential aide of CIO Chieftain John L Lewis, and Dan W. Tracy, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an AFL affiliate.

Disturbed conditions in Europe, Germany's economic advances in South America and the United States' promises to help defend the entire western hemisphere have combined to give unusual importance to the Lima conference which begins Dec. 9.

Landon, discussing his appointment and acceptance, said last night at Topeka, Kans, that it was in line with what he had always advocated.

"No matter how much we differ on internal policies," he said, "it is common sense and patriotism to present a unified front in foreign affairs."

MODIFICATION OF LAWS PASSED BY NEW DEAL PLAN OF G. O. P.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Republicans in the 1939 congress, it appears today, will concentrate on trying to modify a half dozen New Deal laws rather than advancing many new proposals of their own.

The augmented minority, probably aided by anti-administration Democrats, is expected to center its amendment campaign on the Wagner labor act and the crop control program.

Various opposition members also have expressed a desire to revise the social security, wage-hour, tax and neutrality legislation. Although administration forces may agree to some minor changes, they are certain to fight any demands for general rewriting of these statutes.

The labor relations board already has insisted that no revision of the Wagner act is necessary. Business men, on the other hand, generally have contended the law is one-sided in favor of labor. They have suggested amendment to limit the right to strike and to make labor equally responsible with management for the performance of contracts Some have advocated that labor unions be incorporated.

From President William Green of the American Federation of Labor have come suggestions that the law be amended to insure "impartially" by the labor board

Administrative leaders strategically hold the upper hand on this and other issue, because the president could veto any amendments of which he disapproved and a two-thirds majority then would be necessary to enact them.

Suggestions for changes in the farm law have been numerous, and several undoubtedly will be submitted to the next congress Whether the opposition will agree on one set is a question still to be answered. The administration is expected to offer some farm legislation of its own, but it has not yet been drafted.

Price-fixing, the "dumping" of surpluses abroad, the sale of commodities to needy persons at bargain prices, and increased government crop loans are some of the ideas advanced by individual members.

TELL 3 POWERS RIVER BLOCKADE POLICY TO STAY

Military Operations Prevent Lifting of Ban on Vessel Movements, Tokyo Says.

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—The Japanese government today rejected the protests of the United States, Great Britain and France against the closing of the Yangtze river to all but Japanese vessels.

In separate notes handed to ambassadors of the three powers, the government declared military operations still made navigation of the Yangtze dangerous and for that reason foreign vessels must be barred.

A foreign office statement summarizing the notes said:

Although Japan has no intention of deliberately hampering commerce and navigation of their powers in the Yangtze, the Japanese government holds the view that the time has not yet arrived to warrant a general opening."

Lists Five Reasons.

The summary listed five reasons for Japan's refusal to open the river:

5—Some time will be required before the river is cleared of mines.

The three powers delivered their representations to Japan Nov. 7, protesting that their vessels were being barred from the Yangtze while Japanese vessels were permitted to enter and leave at will.

A foreign office spokesman said last week that the protests were "based on misinformation" and that "Japanese vessels were used for military purposes, not commercial."

Japan still has not answered the note of Secretary of State Cordell Hull Oct. 6 demanding continuation of the "open door" in China.

FAIR ENOUGH!

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK: I have always given Mayor La Guardia credit for sincerity and therefore have no doubt that he spoke in honest apprehension when he perceived in the election returns a danger of either Communism or dictatorship.

The distinction between Communism and dictatorship seems artful, but I will let that pass and proceed to the point.

The point is that he is still strong for the Roosevelt New Deal and believes that those who call themselves progressives and liberals must get together to sharpen up their program and resume the fight.

It is a fact, however, that some of those who have assumed a patent right to the politically sanitary labels, "progressive" and "liberal," are conspiratorial Communists who have smelled up those words and made people suspicious of hidden purposes and intellectual stealth in that wing of our national politics.

And it also is a fact that some of the measures and methods of the New Deal itself are so much like phases of Nazi-Fascism that they might have been taken right out of the book.

Court-packing, for one example, rubber-stamping for another and persistent effort in many ways to impose Government regulation on business, little as well as big. All that stuff may come of the most pious political intent, but it seems to be Nazi-Fascist, and a square-believer who really hates and fears this disease, as I have no doubt La Guardia does, owes it to his own cause to explain away the suspicion and caution that the people expressed last Tuesday.

* * *

There has been too much lofty contempt for the honest apprehensions of the voting people, as though they were either too stupid or too evil and selfish to rate a civil answer to their doubts. I should think La Guardia and the other men on his team would have sufficient respect for democracy, if not for the election returns, to concede that the mere fact of their devotion to certain beliefs is insufficient.

Not to doubt that La Guardia and his co-believers in the Roosevelt New Deal in its extremist measures really do cherish democracy and hate dictatorship, I insist that they have a patriotic duty to expound their knowledge to people who veered away from the New Deal in honest aversion.

Certainly La Guardia and those who can honestly call themselves progressives and liberals cannot believe that these voters wanted to vote, or believe that they did vote, against the American democracy. They thought they were voting for it and against encroachment on it.

* * *

La Guardia, Maverick and many others seem unable to back off and take a good look at themselves. If they could they might notice that they have antagonized and in many ways insulted a great body of citizens who love their country and their liberties and reject the proposition that a man with a job or a home or a business necessarily rejoices in the tragedy of those who are without it.

Nobody wants to see breadlines in this country, and only a small element of smug suburban ignoramuses are stupid enough to think that their own liberties and fortunes would escape impairment under a dictator.

Just where is the sentiment in favor of a dictatorship to be found in the election returns? To me they seemed to be so muddled up with local issues as to be incoherent, except in one respect—a note of suspicion and self-confidence.

La Guardia should explain more fully, and while he is about it explain also the error of the belief that the Government was falling into authoritarian habits for convenience in meeting its problems.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Miliza Korjus is going to stay in paradise. She thinks Hollywood is paradise.

When the bosses saw M'leeja, in "The Great Waltz," they cheered. When they heard M'leeja's great golden voice, they did a snake dance. They began counting. A producer is never so happy as when he is counting. M'leeja will stay in Paradise. . . .

And let me say right here that Hollywood will be more like Paradise because she is here. Miliza Korjus (Metro wants you to pronounce it Gor-geous) is different.

She is different because she is a glammer girl—and she hasn't any glammer. She may have it on the screen, which is all to the good.

Off-screen, she's got something better. It's vitally good health, a big cheerfulness and a big, girlish laughter. She doesn't look as if she'll swoon if you breathe too hard. She doesn't slink, and she doesn't pose. She's pretty, but she's no orchid. More the sunflower type. Big and blonde.

* * *

M'LEEJA is a big girl still. She was much bigger when she arrived two years ago. How much she lost through diet and exercise is not for us to know. I have been told it was about 80 pounds, which seems incredible. I have been told it is only 30 pounds, which is still pretty good.

M'leeja will "give" about that diet. But DON'T try it. She was under medical supervision the whole time.

"Ya. I come here and I am just like in prison," she said. "I take juices, and water, and you know WHAT? VEGETABLES!...

"And meat. Raw hamburger, one-half pound a day, on tomato slice. Next week, raw calf's liver, ground up with raw carrot to kill taste. I tell you, any American woman who take it this way will find she stay young, beautiful, not nervous or anemic. One-quarter pound. For singer, one-half pound because singer need power. It is AWFUL, but you must imagine it is chuck'lut, eat very fast as can. It looks like chuc'lut pudding, ya!"

For dinner she has lamp chop or steak, but cooked. Once a week, on Sunday, she is permitted to eat anything she pleases. (By Sunday evening she isn't the least bit hungry.) Invariably, rising at 6, she must retire by 9 p m. She is used to that, too, by now. Three hours daily, she sings. After lunch, she walks a half hour. Two hours daily she studies English. One hour she swims — in ocean and pool, good weather and bad. She sings while she swims — "people hear but they think it's radio some place."

* * *

ONE hour before retiring she has a phonograph concert — symphonies from her collection of 2,000 records. She lives near the ocean with her husband, Kuno Folsch, mathematician, astronomer and writer, and their 5-year-old daughter.

Fame on European concert stages brought here here. Swedish-Russian by descent, she was born in Warsaw.

She volunteered the information that Ferdnand Gravet is her favorite actor, but I had to ask about the favorite dish of a lady on a diet.

"American Liberty pie," she exclaimed with ecstasy. "I get it at a hotel downtown. The recipe is secret. But it is white — with whipped cream — and chuck'lut inside—and everything!"

APPROACHING EVENTS FILL HOLIDAY PLANS

Two Thanksgiving Dances, Three Weddings, Numerous Musical and Social Affairs Arranged For Coming Days.

COMING events, so it has been said, cast their shadows before them. Certainly this is true with the coming social affairs in Mansfield, as the party-minded spend feverish minutes arranging their engagement calendars so that all events may be worked in. With Thanksgiving day, a day of national festivity, only a few days off many socialites are busily arranging parties.

Perhaps the event that chronologically heads the list is the Singers club concert tomorrow night in the Mansfield-Leland ballroom. This affair, the second public recital given by the club, brings out Mansfield music lovers by the score.

Activity seems to center around the hotel for the next few weeks as the Our club and the University club, both men's social units, plan dances on the Friday and Saturday following the holiday Both affairs will be formal, and the latter organization has secured Joe Cisco and his Musical Magpies for dancing.

Smaller Affairs.

Many smaller parties, dinners and suppers, will precede and follow the Friday and Saturday night dances at the Leland.

An annual event, the Art Study club guest tea at the Central Methodist Episcopal church, this Friday, will attract the interest of many club women and art enthusiasts in the city. That evening the Community Concert series will open at the high school, and many patrons of the arts will attend.

The next marriage of the month will be that of Miss Ruth Schrantz and Walter Brockwell on Nov. 19 at Shelby. Two nuptial events of Thanksgiving day will be the marriage of Miss Rita Carroll and Joseph Ziegler, and Maxine Shriver and Oscar Fensch. Miss Schrantz, a former Shelby girl, and Miss Shriver who now lives in that city, have been guests of honor at a number of prenuptial affairs the past weeks.

Coming Review.

Another approaching event that is heralded by those who enjoy books and reading, is the review on Nov. 22 at the First Congregational church. Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff, Cleveland, will be the guest reviewer and will give "My Son, My Son" by Howard Spreng. She spoke here last month under the sponsorship of the church Women's association.

Rushing on to December we find that Dorothy Fuldheim will be here on the first day of next month. She will speak before members of the Mansfield Federation of Women at a lecture luncheon, and is also scheduled for an evening address. A little later in the month a number of Christmas parties will be held. Among them will be the Audubon club guest party.

Starkey-Tappan Ceremony Read Friday Afternoon

Although the engagement of Miss Mary Virginia Starkey to William Richard Tappan has been known for several months, the marriage of the couple this weekend has come as a surprise to many, even intimate friends of the pair. In an exceptionally quiet service, Miss Starkey, daughter of Mrs. Anna M. Starkey, 31 Helen avenue, and Mr. Tappan, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Tappan, Woodland road, were married.

The ceremony was performed at the bride's home at 3:30 p. m. Friday by Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here. Carleton Miller Starkey gave his sister in marriage while Miss Thelma Reed played nuptial music.

After a small reception at the home, Mr. and Mrs. Tappan left on a week's motor trip. They will be at home at 67 West First street. The bride, who is a graduate of Ohio State university has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Tappan is an employe of the Tappan Stove company, and he attended Denison university at Granville where he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta.

Mrs. Duckett Honored at Birthday Surprise

Mrs. G. F. Beard was hostess Saturday evening at a birthday surprise party in honor of her sister, Mrs. Robert Duckett, at the Duckett home, 131 West Second street. The evennig was spent in games and contests.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Paul Millenbrick, Lee Darling and Miss Naomi Mock. There were 46 guests present for the social affair and luncheon. Miss Virgie Stillman gave piano selections, and the guest of honor was presented with a number of gifts. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wright Oldham, Bedford, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Arl Cowger, and daughter, Gassaway, W. Va.

Celebrates Birthday at Saturday Affair

Alex Bosko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bosko, rear 175 East Fourth street, was guest of honor at a party Saturday afternoon in celebration of his ninth birthday. Games were played by the 12 guests, and prizes were won by Fay Sheldon, Buddy Miller and Edward Taylor. Luncheon was served to the children.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Strictly Feminine Attire Favored By New York Misses

This is the way they'll step out to dinner and the theater in New York's winter season of 1938. The nonsensical little hat—Chanel's "Belle of the Nineties"—is made of mauve ostrich plumes and worn with mauve suede gloves to accent a long-sleeved black dinner dress. A mink jacket does the rest.

There's a "delicate air" to this pinch-waisted Victorian suit designed for debutante luncheons and cocktail parties this winter. It is made of black velvet and worn with a white batiste blouse whose frothy jabot is banded in beading and laced with a velvet ribbon. Fuchsia velvet trims the hat.

HOSTESS TO GROUP.

Mrs. Glenn Bookwalter, 181 Glessner avenue, was hostess Saturday evening at a birthday party honoring her niece, Miss Edna Bookwalter. An oyster supper was served with Marvin Stevens assisting Mrs. Bookwalter. The evening was spent in cards, and a number of gifts were presented to the honoree. Mrs. C. L. Bookwalter, Edna's mother, entertained at her home 473 Glessner avenue, Friday with a dinner party also.

SINGLE RING SERVICE UNITES MANSFIELDERS

Home-Maker Has Chance Of Happiness

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of 12 articles which will appear three times weekly, beginning today and ending Dec. 10, on the subject Six Ways to Lose Him and Six Ways to Lose Her. Beatrice Fairfax, well-known authority on problems of love and marriage, has written this series which will appear regularly in The News-Journal.)

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A man cannot express himself more neatly than in the girl to whom he gives his name in marriage. And if he's a decent, self-respecting citizen, he will demand that the world shall treat his wife as well as it treats him — or know the reason why.

Six Ways To Lose Him, Or Her.

This type of reasoning often will keep a man tied to a homely, dowdy wife, who also may be a Dumb Dora. His affections may have strayed far and wide, all over the map, but the little woman who bears his name, and is the mother of his children, will win out against a glamour girl, for his wife's status is identical with his own.

But, if the wife has undesirable family connections, the marriage presents all sorts of complications.

The question then arises, how far should a wife keep up with relatives who are a distinct liability? The fact that they are unfortunate, even unworthy, may not make her love them any the less. But in her dealings with them, she must consider her husband, and her children if she has any.

Undesirable in-laws, who present the major family problem, are the jobless, who feel they have a claim on their more well-to-do kinsfolk. Unfortunately, this arrangement of sharing the home with the unemployed, is seldom successful.

To many people of both sexes, an undesirable relative means just one person—a mother-in-law. She, poor soul, is a victim of the comic strip and the cheap vaudeville entertainment. To my way of thinking, she's far more sinned against than sinning.

If it is necessary, however, for either husband or wife to help along a woman, who has outlived her usefulness through age, the better plan is to help her by letting her help herself. A little flat with a kitchenette, if it can be managed, is the solution.

My Neighbor Says:

There is always danger that bulbs planted with an old-fashioned dibber will fail to reach the bottom of the hole, but will hang halfway down and soon decay. This danger can be obviated by planting with a trowel, of course, but most amateurs are looking for a planting method which is easier on the back. When a dibber is used, it is always advisable to run a little sand into the bottom of the holes so that there will be no danger of air pockets under the bulbs.

Always allow a porcelain-topped stove to cool before washing it. If washed while it is warm the porcelain is apt to crack. Use a mild soap, warm water and a soft cloth. With a little rubbing the stove will be easily cleaned.

Today's Fashion

By VERA WINSTON

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was uncertainty on the faces of both of Mary's brothers as we neared the door of the Lansfield, outside which the efficient doorman was already summoning a taxi for us. It was an expression which deepened to embarrassment as we descended the steps of the hotel, and I wondered what had happened to upset them. Then Hank gave a signaling nod to Bill who gulped and broke into rapid, apologetic speech.

"Don't think we're awful heels," he said, "but do you mind if we don't go to that big place that Uncle Dicky picked out? We don't mean that we want to save the money for anything else—he gave us a lot of money—but . . ."

"Of course we understand, Bill," I said. "There's something else you'd rather see. Is that it?"

He swallowed hard and looked at me gratefully.

"It's like this," he said. "That picture at the big place is swell, and of course we'd like to see it, but there's a picture over here at the—" —he named a cinema about four blocks from the hotel—"that we missed at Worcester when it came up there. We had a touch of the 'flu and couldn't go out. The boys all said it was the funniest thing they ever saw, and they talked so much about it, we made up our minds that the first chance we had we'd see it. But we're so afraid you've seen it, and that you'd like to see the one Uncle Dicky picked out."

"Look here! you two idots." Mary said, affectionate scorn in her voice. "Can you get it through your thick heads that this party is thrown for you two, with nobody else considered? What is this picture you want to see?"

"I've seen it," she said, "but I've always yearned to lamp it again. It's absolutely the most side-splitting thing I've ever looked at. Don't you think so, Auntie Madge?"

She'd Love It.

"Indeed I do, Mary," I assented heartily. "I'd love to see it again. In fact, I'd much rather see it than the one your uncle chose. We know what this one is, and the other is an unknown quantity. Besides I've always found that I enjoy a good talkie better the second time of seeing it, for there are many little fine points that I do not get the first time."

"Gee!" Hank and Bill reverted to their childhood in the exclamation they voiced simultaneously, and their sighs of relief were positively gusty.

"That's swell," Hank said. "But are you sure you aren't just saying that to be polite to us?"

"Positively sure," I said, and Mary grinned impishly at them.

"Since when have you two infants grown up enough to merit politeness from your elders and betters?" she asked. "No, you don't need to answer that one. That taxi driver will have apoplexy if we stand here at the door much longer. Go ahead, Bill. Tell him the address of the theater you want and don't worry about the money. We'll spend it, all right. Oh, boy! oh, boy! what a luncheon we'll have!"

New Detective.

She gave me a wink as we descended the steps to the taxi, and I knew that while we would have an adequate, even a sumptuous luncheon, there would be plenty of Dicky's money left to insure the boys some extra spending money over the rather limited allowance they had at school.

As we entered the taxi, I sent a glance along the street opposite, and saw—as I expected—a movement in one of the doorways opposite. There emerged a man unfamiliar to me but who, I am sure, was another of the detectives planted by some unknown agency to watch our comings and goings, or rather, Mary's. I did not believe that my actions, except as they were a corollary of Mary's, had any interest for the unknown person who was watching our every movement.

"Isn't that a new one?" she asked

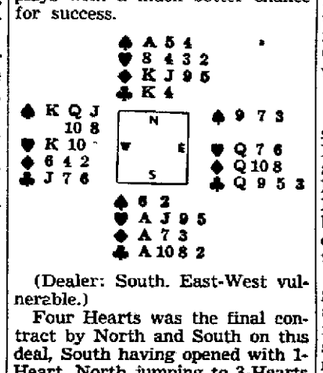
"The Authority on Authorities"

PLACING AN HONOR

One defender's lead of a small card during the play of your suit bid makes it likely that his partner holds any particular honor in the suit led. This is because we all hate to sacrifice our honors by leading away from them. Making such simple inferences may steer us away from losing finesses and impel us to build up lead-throwers or other forms of end plays with a much better chance for success.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Four Hearts was the final contract by North and South on this deal, South having opened with 1-Heart, North jumping to 3-Hearts and South bidding 4-Hearts.

The spade K was led by West and taken with dummy's A. Next came the lead of the heart 2 and the 9 lost to West's 10. After cashing the spade Q, West switched to the diamond 2. This play indicated to declarer that the Q was held by East, so the 5 was played from dummy and the A from the South hand. Next came leads of the club K, club A and a club ruff in dummy. The heart 3 was played to the A and followed by a club ruff in the North and a spade ruff in the South. Then East was put in the lead with the heart Q. East had nothing to return but a diamond.

As declarer could observe from the start, it was possible that he had to lose two trumps, one spade and one diamond, but the end play was a sure thing no matter who held the queen.

What is the best defense against South's contract of 4-Spades?

Hints On Selecting Holiday Bird

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

TURKEY lore is the order of the day just now. Selection of poultry is extremely important. Of course, the task has been considerably simplified by the grading of the birds, but if you want to make sure of your bird, here are some pointers.

A young turkey has very supple feet and smooth legs. The eyes are clear and the surroundings entirely free from scale. Look for a bird that has a long breast. Choose a henbird wherever possible, as it is generally meatier and more tender.

The length of spurs on a henbird is a helpful guide. In a young bird they are practically nonexistent.

Unfailing Test.

An unfailing test for the age of all poultry is to try the strength of the stern end of the breast bone. If it is soft as to be almost gristly, the bird is young; if hard, stiff and bony, then pass up that bird.

The many people who enjoy goose as a holiday bird will want to get one young, with white skin, a full plump fleshy breast, and the apron covered with white fat. The bill and feet of a young goose are of yellow color, and there are but a few hairs about the legs at the termination of the thigh. As a goose ages, the bill and feet acquire a reddish tint and the body and feet become hairy.

Chestnut stuffing is a good choice if you are out for something different from the usual. Clean and mince one-half pound each of lean veal and lean pork with the turkey liver; then brown lightly in butter with the chopped mixed herbs, a pinch of nutmeg, salt and pepper. Bind with one or two whole eggs, mix thoroughly and remove from fire. Then add about 24 roasted chestnuts peeled and skinned.

Chestnut Sauce.

To complete the noble dish, serve a chestnut sauce. Put one and one-half pounds of chestnuts in a saucepan, cover with cold water and bring to a boil. Let them boil for one minute. Then peel and skin, put in a saucepan with a small stalk of shredded celery, a lump of sugar, and cover with stock or water. Bring to a boil and simmer till chestnuts are tender. Then rub them through a sieve, then put them back in saucepan and thin out the puree with a little boiling stock. Just before serving, add an ounce of butter.

Prune stuffing for a goose makes this bird a grand variation of the usual turkey. Soak 24 prunes in cold water for 12 hours. Dry carefully and store. Boil one-half pound lean pork till tender, drain and chop it with three medium-sized onions, previously cooked in butter and seven or eight stoned olives. Bind with an egg, mix well and stuff the stoned prunes with this mixture. Put the stuffed prunes inside the goose and let stand for 2 hours so that the bird is saturated with the prune flavor.

Too much bluing in your rinsing water will give your clothes a dingy, gray color. Measure bluing carefully and mix it with a little water and then add it to the tub of water in which the clothes will be placed.

Use a solution of washing soda to remove foods that have been burned onto enamel cooking utensils.

THEATERS

YOU can expect a glorified Western when Walter Wanger's production of "Stagecoach" is exhibited, for it will revolve around the warfare between Indians and whites of the 1885 period. It is being filmed on the Navajo Indian reservation with Apaches, Navajos and a few Pi-utes taking part in it, with the warrior chieftan, Geronimo, one of the leading characters. The picture production was started on the site where the last Indian battle was fought and where Geronimo was captured at Kayenta in Northern Arizona.

Teammates In Stablemates

Mickey Rooney, who replaces Jackie Cooper as Wallace Beery's screen teammate, seems a more appropriate associate for the big character actor than his predecessor, for he has a matching quality of likeable "toughness." The two are starred in "Stablemates," current at the Ohio. Margaret Hamilton as the spinster who is enamored of the race track bum, is the only woman in the film.

* * *

Cast of Notables

Adapted from the best-selling novel by Myron Brinig, and co-starring Errol Flynn and Bette Davis, "The Sisters," a teeming drama of American life in the early 1900's, is being shown at the Madison through Tuesday. Besides the stars the cast includes a number of notable players—Ian Hunter, Beulah Bondi, Anita Louise, Jane Bryon and Patrick Knowles.

* * *

Fighting Prosecutor.

Walter Abel, who looks not unlike the fighting prosecutor of New York City's vice trials, is cast as a fighting prosecutor in "The Racket Busters," a story of one man's fight against vice and rackets. Gloria Dickson and George Brent, as an independent truckman, and Humphrey Bogart as the head of the truck racket, head the cast. Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant are teamed in "Bringing Up Baby," also at the Ritz.

"Ebb Tide" at Majestic.

The characters of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Ebb Tide" have been brought to the screen by Paramount in the picture of that title, with Oscar Homolka as the derelict seaman, Ray Milland as the remittance man and Frances Farmer as the girl on the ship with its strange cargo. "Sharpshooters" is a story of cameramen rather than soldiers, with Lynn Bari and Brian Donlevy.

Three Shows a Week.

Three shows a week instead of two will be in effect at the Park theater for awhile, it was announced by Manager Ralph Shaffer. There will be an occasional Saturday midnight show, with changes on Sunday, a one-day showing Wednesday and the third on Thursday. Through Tuesday this week the attractions are the first showing in Ohio of "Gangster's Boy" with Jackie Cooper, and "Broadway Bill," with Myrna Loy and Warner Baxter.

Be Frivolous Now'n Then Adviser Says

By MME. QUI VIVE

Clothes can't be much fun for the Duchess of Windsor or Barbara-Hutton-that-was; they have so many of them.

But with Millie who thumps a typewriter all day or the Missus at home who juggles pots and pans—whee! Lugging home new dry goods and getting into 'em for the first time, that's a grand event.

Let us hope that the evening gown is not practical, that it is not bought with the idea that is will wear. Being reckless is part of the fun.

It's nice to feel foolish and extravagant; that's why a perishable dress gives more happiness than a durable one. We're all for it. Fortunately, pretty duds don't have to cost a lot. Nowadays, they look expensive but they're within the financial possibilities of almost anyone.

Perhaps Milly and Missus will invest in a new hair-do by way of gaining an even greater stimulation. If the hair at the rear isn't long enough, have it done in snail curls along the nape line and "up" the crown strands. It can be done and wonderful are the results.

* * *

A nail polish to match the gown; that must not be overlooked. And if you have any old jewelry that has been kicking round the house since the year one get it out. There's a frenzy for old stuff now. You used to think those trinkets nutty, but now they are just quaint because of the modern slant for Victorian effects. A pair of bracelets belonging to the old school design will have it all over the new costume products, though they're pretty nice too.

A SIMPLE GUIDE ANY MOTHER CAN EASILY FOLLOW

Wouldn't it be wonderful to know about a way that helped thousands of people to escape many colds with all their discomforts and dangers? A way that sharply reduced the number and length of colds, that cut sickness from colds 50.88%, that reduced children's school absences due to colds even more—57.86%!

These are actual figures—not taken from just a few experiences—but from a great series of clinical tests in which more than 17,000 men, women and children took part. 37 doctors were on the supervisory staff. More than 500 supervisors and nurses assisted them. This great clinic, by sharply reducing the number and length of colds and the distress that comes with them, proved the worth of Vicks Plan.

Vicks Plan is a simple guide which emphasizes the importance of proper personal care and the use of two specialized medications for relief of symptoms in different types and stages of colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub. When colds threatened—at the first sniffle or sneeze—Va-tro-nol was used to help prevent many a cold from developing. When a cold got by all precautions, VapoRub was used to relieve its discomforts.

The results speak for themselves. Vicks Plan may do less for you—or it may do even more. But with such a record it certainly is worth a trial. It is easy to follow in your own home. You get full directions in every package of Va-tro-nol or VapoRub.

To Help PREVENT Many Colds

Va-tro-nol is specialized medication—expressly designed for use in the nose and upper throat, where 3 out of 4 colds start. You can feel its tingling, stimulating medication go right to work to aid Nature's own defenses against colds. Used at the very first warning nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds from developing. So keep it handy and use it early.

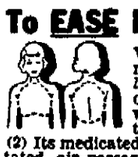
VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

To EASE Discomfort of Colds



VapoRub is the standby of most mothers the country over for relieving misery of colds. Massaged on throat, chest, and back, VapoRub works two ways at once: (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Its medicated vapors are inhaled direct to irritated air-passages. This double action loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion—and you soon feel comfortable again.

Yale-Harvard Vie This Week

Columbus Game a Headliner

THERE'S a lull in the football storm this week, just before the final Thanksgiving day blast, and the teams that retained their championship aspirations over the past week-end appear in good positions to keep them another week.

Only Dartmouth, beaten 14-7 by Cornell, Iowa State, tied 13-13 by Kansas State, and Santa Clara, nipped 7-0 by St. Mary's were removed from the list of undefeated and untied "major" teams over the week-end. The survivors were:

East—Georgetown, Villanova (tied), Boston college (tied).
Southwest—Texas Christian, Texas Tech.
Far West—Utah (tied twice).

Surveying the present situation by sections:

EAST—Georgetown neatly blocked off an old rival, West Virginia, 14-0, last Saturday and tackles Maryland, the "pushover" of the Southern conference next. Boston college didn't gain much prestige in Friday's 21-14 victory over Boston U. and now faces little St. Anselm, unbeaten and untied in its class. Villanova, 20-7 winner over Temple, plays Boston U.

The traditionally great Yale-Harvard game, which bears only upon the Big Three title, is this week's eastern headliner although Yale took a 20-7 drubbing from Pinceton while the Crimson was warming up with a 40-13 victory over Virginia. Syracuse, walloped 21-0 by Duke's great team, and Columbia, 14-9 victim of Navy, meet in another traditional scrap, as do LaFayette and Lehigh. Pitt's Panthers, who helped themselves to a 19-0 decision over Nebraska without Marshall Goldberg's aid, take on an ancient enemy, Penn State, which tied Penn, 7-7. Army, after a 34-13 win over Chattanooga, returns to major action against Princeton.

Notre Dame Faces Northwestern This Week.

MIDDLE WEST: From the national viewpoint, Northwestern-Notre Dame is the big game, but the battle between Wisconsin and Minnesota is the Big Ten headliner. With the conference season closing, the winner will get the title. If they tie, Ohio State, victorious over Illinois, 32-14, can take the crown by beating Michigan, which battled Northwestern to a scoreless draw. Both Notre Dame and Minnesota may suffer let-downs after their struggle which saw the Irish come out ahead by the surprising score of 19-0. Purdue-Indiana and Chicago-Illinois are other Big Ten pairings. Iowa plays Nebraska.

Oklahoma virtually sewed up the Big Six title by Whipping Missouri, 21-0, while Iowa State was being tied by Kansas State, but the situation can be altered suddenly if Iowa State should win their windup game Saturday. Kansas State plays Washburn while Missouri meets St. Louis.

Michigan State, 20-14 winner over Marquette, meets Temple, and Detroit, 7-0 victor over North Carolina State, plays Tulsa in the best intersectional tilts.

SOUTHWEST—Texas Christian, which trimmed Texas, 28-6, for its fourth straight conference victory, and Rice, jolted out of a contending position when it lost, 27-0, to Texas A. and M., meet in one big Southwest conference tilt, while Southern Methodist, whose third straight was a 19-6 decision over Arkansas, takes on Baylor, 35-2 winner over Loyola of Los Angeles.

SOUTH—Duke firally gets back to Southern conference competition, playing North Carolina State, and should clinch the title without further ado. Tennessee, which preserved its Southeastern conference lead by whipping Vanderbilt, 14-0, and Alabama, which tied Georgia Tech, 14-14, on a disputed pass, remain idle at the head of the standing.

Auburn, 28-6 winner over Louisiana State, and Georgia, beaten by the same count by Tulane, clash in the best Southeastern conference game. Georgia Tech plays Florida and Tulane faces Sewanee.

* * * * *

California-Stanford Tilt Tops Coast Bill.

FAR WEST—The race for the Pacific Coast conference title and the Rose Bowl nomination was jumbled again when Southern California fell victim to Washington, 7-6, while California re-asserted its power by beating Oregon, 20-0. Each has five victories and one defeat. California plays Stanford Saturday while the Trojans remain idle until they meet U. C. L. A. Thanksgiving.

Packers Cinch Title Share

CHICAGO —(AP)— Green Bay's Packers, assured at least a share of the national professionel football league's western division championship, today, prepared to add to the eastern division's woes.

Chicago's Bears started the trouble for the eastern loop yesterday by knocking Washington's Redskins from the division leadership. The Packers hope to finish it—in their final game on the regular season — when they oppose New York's Giants, the new leaders, at New York Sunday.

Brooklyn, which retains an outside title chance, will play the Bears next Sunday and New York on Thanksgiving day. New York took over the eastern lead yesterday by thumping the Cleveland Rams, 28 to 0.

Next Sunday Detroit will meet the Chicago Cardinals who were held to a 14-14 tie by Cincinnati's Bengals in an exhibition Sunday. Philadelphia, which bowed before Brooklyn 32 to 14 yesterday, will meet Pittsburgh at Charleston, W. Va., in the other league game.

GALENTO COMES BACK TO RING WARS TONIGHT

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A beer-swilling New Jersey saloon keeper and a Minnesota locomotive engineer meet at convention hall tonight in a 12-round battle that should be a good exhibision of brawn against brawn if not of fistic finesse.

K-B's Outline Demands For Misfit Game

Their game with the Lorain Collegians called off Sunday because of an early morning rain, the Kallmerten and Baer Coals today started preparations for a game tentatively scheduled for next Sunday with Brownie's Misfits at League park.

Villella told The News-Journal today that the Misfits must use only Mansfield players, none from outside of the city. He also stated that George Hummel and Tony Schadek, former members of the K-B's, would not be permitted to play because they are acquainted with the Coals' plays.

The Coalsmen also demand that the Misfits have at least 20 players in uniform and that four officials be used.

90-Yard Run Features Win

Buzard Stars as East End Trims North End, 20-0.

A 90-yard return of a pass interception late in the fourth quarter of Fred Buzard featured the East End All-Stars' 20 to 0 gridiron victory over the North End Lions at League park Saturday.

Buzard swept left end for the first score in the initial period from the 20. Behind excellent blocking, McKinney added the next touchdown in the second quarter from the 15. Buzard added the extra point. Atwater converted the extra point after the last touchdown.

Close Schedule With 32-0 Loss On Canton Grid

By OSCAR BUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

TAKING the word of the Tygers, who should have a pretty good idea of what they're talking about, Massillon will win over Canton McKinley next Saturday afternoon when these two schools meet to determine the state mythical football championship.

Virtually to a man, Mansfield high school gridmen contend that the Tigers are stronger than the Bulldogs, at least, in the games in which they played against them.

Canton is the most powerful club Coach Russ Murphy's men met this season, but the Tygers agree almost unanimously that Massillon is faster, more deceptive, stronger in the air and hits harder.

The Tygers got a taste of the Canton brand of ball last Saturday as they rung down the curtain on their season. They absorbed a lot of punishment from the Bulldogs, but the Cantonites appeared to lack the all-around class of the Massillons, although both clubs trimmed Mansfield by virtually the same score.

Fifth In Tygers.

Canton handed the Tygers their fifth defeat in nine games Saturday by a 32 to 0 score, while Massillon's margin of victory earlier this season was a touchdown less, 33 to 7.

Despite the margin of defeat, Mansfield produced a better performance than it did in the majority of the other losses. The Tygers fought all the way against the powerful and heavier Canton forces, led by Marion Motley, a big, speedy colored boy.

Mansfield should have scored, too. But a couple of unfortunate breaks forced the Tygers to leave the game without a point.

Murphy used his sophomores and juniors freely in the game, and they again showed promise. Dick Weaver turned in a nice job at a guard, Dick Sauder did as well at center and Martin Henke again showed promise as a back. Bob Lantz got his first starting assignment Saturday, but he suffered an ankle injury early in the game, and was forced to leave the fray before he had a chance to distinguish himself.

Capt. Rich Nagle and Ike Smith did most of the ground gaining for the Tygers against McKinley, but Howard Hershey made himself useful, too.

A feature of the Tygers' play was the punting of Alex Schwaner, who literally kicked the cover off the pigskin to drive the Bulldogs back into their own territory time and again

Schwaner kicked eight times for an average of 41 yards. One of his punts was good for 57 yards. Another for 53. Twice he quick-kicked just short of the goal line from Mansfield territory.

Calls Play Back.

Four splendid scoring opportunities were offered the Tygers. In the second period, Referee Tony Lobach called back a play to nullify a touchdown.

Mansfield recovered a fumble on Canton's 39. Then Schwaner pitched to Hershey, who weaved through virtually the entire Canton team to cross the goal. But Lobach ruled that he had blown the whistle before the play got underway and a 10-yard deficit was charged to Mansfield.

Mansfield completely outplayed the Bulldogs in the latter part of the second half, but failed to score. Weaver intercepted a pass in the flat late in the third frame on the Canton 40, but just as it appeared he was free, he lateraled badly to Ike Smith. Mansfield recovered, but was forced to punt.

Nagle recovered a fumble on the Canton 28 early in the fourth quarter, but passes failed and Canton took the oval on downs

The Tygers' final scoring bid was the most dangerous. After Hershey intercepted a pass on the hosts' 44, Mansfield reached the six when interference was called on a pass. The Tygers pushed to the six-inch line, and Motley intercepted a pass on fourth down behind the goal line and brought it back to the seven to stop the bid.

Canton failed to take advantage of only two scoring opportunities. Mansfield held for downs on the six in the second period and later recovered a bobble on the 18 to thwart the Bulldogs.

Motley lived up to press notices, but Canton also showed other powerful backs in Lockhart, Goodman and Garrison. Motley scored two touchdowns, passed to Roman for another and added one extra point via placement and pitched to Roman for the only other point converted.

Motley Outguns Tygers.

Motley alone picked up 189 yards in 21 running attempts. His runs ranged from one yard to 32. Mansfield threw him for a loss only once.

The big colored boy will cause Massillon no end of trouble, but he will be playing against a stronger defensive team than he did Saturday, and might find it difficult to get loose.

Canton tallied in every period but the fourth. The first score came on the opening kickoff when Motley went across from the six to culminate a 61-yard drive.

Garrison's 43-yard run, the longest of the day, featured the 61-yard march which produced the second touchdown in the next period. Motley flew over from the one.

The 195-pound Motley passed to Roman for the first of two touchdowns in the third period. The touchdown throw netted 42 yards. Goodman romped across from the 27 on a sweep for the final score.

In addition to holding a 19 to 9 edge in first downs, Canton accumulated more yardage from scrimmage than any Tyger foe this season. The Bulldogs piled up 437 yards from rushing to only 107 for the Tygers. Both clubs obtained 45 yards from passes, Mansfield completing five out of 20 and Canton two out of 11. Four Mansfield throws were intercepted, while the Bulldogs gave up the ball twice in this manner.

Hold Edge In Runbacks.

The only department of the statistics in which Mansfield held the edge was in the return of kicks, and this was due to Schwaner's spectacular puntings, which frequently flew over the safety man's head. The Tygers returned boots for 115 yards.

All of the Tygers who saw service in Saturday's game will return next fall except Capt. Nagle, Schwaner, Harold Gallagher, Joe Lehr, Dick McMullen and Bill Russell.

Matmen to Inaugurate Winter Season Friday

PROFESSIONAL wrestling will return to the Mansfield sport scene this week, according to an announcement by the Quality club. Tim Nolan will continue in the capacity of matchmaker and present plans call for programs twice monthly. Scene of the bouts will be the Armory.

Reviving the mat pastime after four months of inactivity, Nolan will inaugurate the winter season on Friday with a presentation of three matches. The matchmaker has formed connections with booking agencies in Columbus, Toledo and Chicago, hoping to bring the standout names of the mat world here.

Although Nolan has not announced his feature attraction for Friday, it is believed he will secure the services of Gordon Arquette, the Indian light-heavyweight contender from Yakima, Wash., as one of the principals. Arquette has recently made a strong bid for top honors in his division and is in the best shape of his career. A six-months' study of the latest deviations in scientific wrestling has enabled him to score 14 straight wins on his way here from the west coast.

The Quality club will continue its policy of popular-priced shows and the starting time will be 8:30 The club expects to announce completion of the main event by tomorrow.

LA SALLE ADDS TO COMFORT AND DRIVING SAFETY

Striking in appearance and possessing a new ride that correlates both comfort and safety in a degree never before achieved in the automotive field, the 1939 La Salle makes its bow under auspicious circumstances.

Few cars have been so completely re-engineered in an annual change-over. The design is fresh and distinctive. The size has been changed to make the car more easily maneuverable, yet with increased passenger room. The spring suspension, frame and body sheet metal have all been improved. Only the traditional V-8 engine, time-tested power source of the La Salle, remains basically the same.

Body Lines Graceful.

Even the most callous observer will sense the new spirit created by La Salle's many advances. Body lines are graceful and clean, much after the trend of modern architecture to simplification.

In operation, progress is equally significant. Not alone does the La Salle for 1939 offer an entirely new thrill in riding, but safety, driving ease, economy and durability notably move forward.

Five body types — the coupe, five-passenger touring coupe, touring sedan, convertible coupe and convertible sedan—are presented.

As a radical departure, and due to the fact that bodies are unusually low, running boards are optional at no extra cost. When removed, stainless steel strips are added below the doors.

The new bodies also register in safer operation Visibility has been materially increased by deeper windshields and windows and narrower body pillars There is an actual improvement of 27 per cent in glass area over last year's models.

Cadillac-La Salle engineers have succeeded in solving the problem. Through an entirely new idea in rear suspension they achieved a ride where resiliency of soft springs does not handicap roadability.

Another driving asset of the new La Salle is ease of operation and convenience of controls. The syncromatic shift, an important automotive contribution by the 938 La Salles, has been retained, but refinements make gear shifting even more effortless

Instrument panels abet the modern motif of the exterior. Dials are mounted horizontally in front of the driver and beneath a curved glass panel that reaches the full width of the dash.

Other points of body refinement —concealed door hinges, leather-topped front seat arm rests, folding arm rests in the rear seat, new "low-clutch" hardware that tastefully combines plastic and chromium, an automatic glove compartment light—are less obvious but offer testimony of the attention to detail in the latest La Salle.

HUDSON ADDS 27 ITEMS TO AUTOS

Vice President Says Buyer Gets More for Money in New Models.

As an instance of the lowered cost to the 1939 buyer for the kind of a car he wants, equipped as he wants it, William R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales for the Hudson Motor Car company, cites the fact that even the 1939 Hudson 112, in the lowest price field, has 27 items added to the standard equipment of the car which were not on the 1938 models

"It is only a matter of simple arithmetic," Tracy said, "to add up the cost of only a few such important 1939 standard equipment items as the new Handy Shift, fenders to match the body color, choice of seven body colors of which four are opalescent, larger tires, bumper guards front and rear. Hudson's exclusive Auto-Poise control and the concealed Carry-All Luggage compartment which provides more luggage room than most trunk models and apply this cost to last year's models to discover how much more the buyer is getting for his money in the 1939 Hudson 112

"The additional items included as standard equipment on the 1939 Hudson 112 represent refinements in beauty, comfort convenience and safety throughout the whole car. Such items as the new Headlight Beam Indicator, the new front compartment light, wing-type ventilation, front door arm rests, and the new Dash-Locking Safety Hood latch-operated from inside the car at driver's seat are all genuine contributions toward greater value and owner satisfaction. We have included all 27 because we believe that the majority of car buyers want their car completely equipped and that is why every Hudson price buys a complete car."

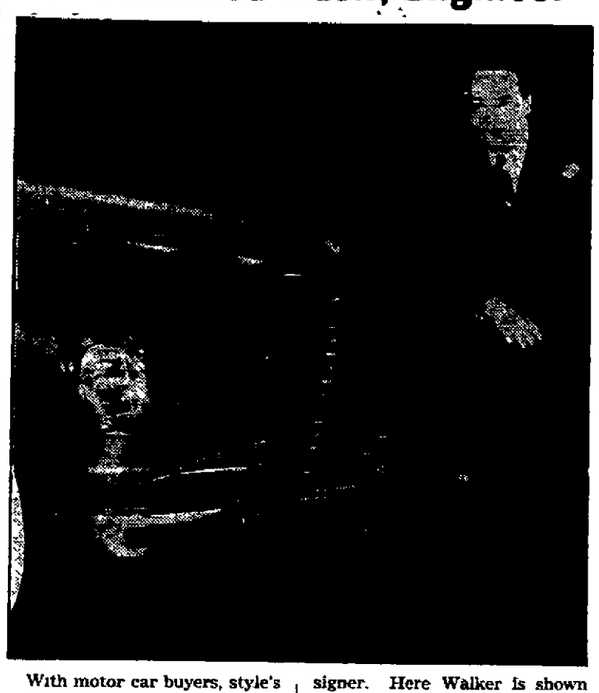
Streamlined Nash, Engineer



With motor car buyers, style's the thing in 1939! And that's why automobile makers have paid more attention than ever before to the appearance of their new cars, according to George W. Walker, noted industrial designer. Here Walker is shown with the 1939 streamlined Nash, which he restyled from stem to stern in collaboration with the company's engineers. The new models are on display here at the Nash-Lafayette salesrooms, 70 North Diamond street

Headlamp Trestle New Feature For Plymouth Lighting

The latest development in headlight construction for automobiles, to reduce glare while keeping full illumination of the road ahead, was revealed as the Plymouth factory swung into full operation to supply dealer demands for the new 1939 models.

Colby and Earick and the Herring Motor Car company are Mansfield distributors for Plymouth

A prominent new feature of the final assembly line is a "headlamp trestle" nearly 100 feet long, which carries new-type focusing apparatus in front of each completed car for new levels of accurate headlighting that mean greater safety on the road

In addition to the improved reflector system introduced with the new "wide range" lights, these streamlined units are an integral part of the 1939 Plymouth's new "lateral airfoil" design.

SALES INCREASE

National Carbon company, makers of "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze, note increasing sales activity, with a volume well over that of any previous season.

In addition to individual consumer requirements, the company is supplying "Prestone" anti-freeze to practically every department of the federal government and every state government. Counties, commissions, and school districts are other heavy purchasers, along with scores of municipalities It is also noted that important sales volume has appeared earlier than in previous years.

FEATURES KEY LOCK

The Lincoln-Zephyr for 1939 has a key lock under the door handle on both sides of the car for greater convenience of the driver.

DODGE LUXURY LINER EMBODIES NEW FEATURES

The 1939 line of Dodge passenger automobiles will be viewed with lively interest, partly because it presents a number of style surprises and mechanical innovations, and also because the newest of Dodge cars is the company's Silver Anniversary model to which engineers, style leaders and production experts are said to have devoted their utmost skill and effort. The company is announcing the new car as the "Dodge Luxury Liner." Colby and Earick, 76 West Third street, are Mansfield distributors.

To the visitor examining the cars for the first time, only the nameplate and the familiar Rocky Mountain Ram which for years has served as Dodge radiator ornament, suggest the car's identity. Everything else is new and different—body contours, hood lines, front grilles, fenders, lamps, windshield, front wheel springing, running boards—even the tire pattern differs from that used on preceding Dodge models.

The gracefully proportioned rear sweep of the all-steel bodies completely conceals a 27 per cent larger luggage compartment. The driving compartment is clear of gear shift and parking brake levers

New Model Is Larger.

The new Dodge is longer in wheelbase and wider in body. It has wider seats, increased leg and elbow space, and greater visibility.

In designing the chassis of the new Dodge Luxury Liner, engineers have provided a new frame with 6-inch side members. The greatest change is noted in the heavier front end of the new frame, which now accomodates an individual-action front-wheel suspension using coil springs of Amola, the new steel also used extensively in the manufacture of Dodge wheel shafts, transmission and drive gears.

Safety in Vision.

The V-type "airplane vision" windshield also is of entirely new design; it is mounted between trimmed-down corner posts, is wider and higher, giving 23 per cent more glass area. The windshield wiper action is electric and constant in speed.

In keeping with other features of streamlining, the headlamps of the new Dodge Luxury Liners are recessed in the forward curves of the front fenders, flush with the surface.

A noteworthy service convenience is incorporated in the design of the hood which is unlocked by the conventional handle, but lifts only the top section, leaving the sides in place. The hood covers are provided with automatic stays, one on each side, which hold the lifted hood in locked position during servicing.

Engine Improvements.

The hydraulic brakes of Dodge have been further improved by relocating air-cooling ribs and redesigning the brake drums to give the brake action a better "feel."

Especially noteworthy among engine improvements are new auto-thermic pistons. Because these new pistons are lighter and also carry lighter piston pins, the loads on main and connecting rod bearings are reduced.

Many Inside Luxuries.

Inside its streamlined bodies, the Dodge Luxury Liner achieves a fine method of upholstering and trimming. Fabrics covering wider seats are attached with an attractive tailored effect. The front seats have wider range of adjustment forward and back, the front seats being arranged to tilt upward as they are moved toward the instrument panel.

The most intriguing feature of the instrument panel is the Dodge "safety light" speedometer; its indicating member consists of a small bead which moves over an illuminated dial as the speed of the car goes up or down For speeds up to 30 miles an hour, the color of the tell-tale bead is green; from 30 to 50 miles an hour the color of the bead is amber; for speeds above 50 miles the bead is red.

PERFECTS BRAKES

HERALDS EASY CLUTCH

A neat trick noticed in the new Dodge Luxury Liners is an arrangement favoring the driver's clutch foot. The novelty takes the form of a spiral spring which, hitched to a suitable boss on the clutch pedal, adds an "over-center" pull to the pressure of the driver's foot on the second half of the pedal's travel.

NEW SAFETY FEATURE

Dual center-control steering, providing maximum safety and new driving ease, either in traffic or on the open road is an outstanding feature of the 1939 Oldsmobile "Sixty," "Seventy," and "Eighty." At no time, according to Oldsmobile engineers, has the industry found a steering mechanism that operates as smoothly and satisfactorily as the dual center-control steering type.

NEW CIGAR LIGHTER

On the new 1939 Buick there is a cigar lighter which pops out of contact when hot. This eliminates the necesity for driving with one hand for a contracted period while manipulating the lighter.

Three Major Elevens Halted
Yale-Harvard Vie This Week
Columbus Game a Headliner

THERE'S a lull in the football storm this week, just before the final Thanksgiving day blast, and the teams that retained their championship aspirations over the past week-end appear in good positions to keep them another week.

Only Dartmouth, beaten 14-7 by Cornell, Iowa State, tied 13-13 by Kansas State, and Santa Clara, nipped 7-0 by St. Mary's were removed from the list of undefeated and untied "major" teams over the week-end. The survivors were:

East—Georgetown, Villanova (tied), Boston college (tied).
South—Tennessee, Duke (also unscored on).
Southwest—Texas Christian, Texas Tech.
Far West—Utah (tied twice).

Surveying the present situation by sections:

EAST—Georgetown neatly blocked off an old rival, West Virginia, 14-0, last Saturday and tackles Maryland, the "pushover" of the Southern conference next. Boston college didn't gain much prestige in Friday's 21-14 victory over Boston U. and now faces little St. Anselm, unbeaten and untied in its class. Villanova, 20-7 winner over Temple, plays Boston U.

The traditionally great Yale-Harvard game, which bears only upon the Big Three title, is this week's eastern headliner although Yale took a 20-7 drubbing from Pinceton while the Crimson was warming up with a 40-13 victory over Virginia. Syracuse, walloped 21-0 by Duke's great team, and Columbia, 14-9 victim of Navy, meet in another traditional scrap, as do LaFayette and Lehigh. Pitt's Panthers, who helped themselves to a 19-0 decision over Nebraska without Marshall Goldberg's aid, take on an ancient enemy, Penn State, which tied Penn, 7-7. Army, after a 34-13 win over Chattanooga, returns to major action against Princeton.

Notre Dame Faces Northwestern This Week.

MIDDLE WEST: From the national viewpoint, Northwestern-Notre Dame is the big game, but the battle between Wisconsin and Minnesota is the Big Ten headliner. With the conference season closing, the winner will get the title. If they tie, Ohio State, victorious over Illinois, 32-14, can take the crown by beating Michigan, which battled Northwestern to a scoreless draw. Both Notre Dame and Minnesota may suffer let-downs after their struggle which saw the Irish come out ahead by the surprising score of 19-0. Purdue-Indiana and Chicago-Illinois are other Big Ten pairings. Iowa plays Nebraska.

Oklahoma virtually sewed up the Big Six title by Whipping Missouri, 21-0, while Iowa State was being tied by Kansas State, but the situation can be altered suddenly if Iowa State should win their windup game Saturday. Kansas State plays Washburn while Missouri meets St. Louis.

Michigan State, 20-14 winner over Marquette, meets Temple, and Detroit, 7-0 victor over North Carolina State, plays Tulsa in the best intersectional tilts.

SOUTHWEST—Texas Christian, which trimmed Texas, 28-6, for its fourth straight conference victory, and Rice, jolted out of a contending position when it lost, 27-0, to Texas A. and M., meet in one big Southwest conference tilt, while Southern Methodist, whose third straight was a 19-6 decision over Arkansas, takes on Baylor, 35-2 winner over Loyola of Los Angeles.

SOUTH—Duke finally gets back to Southern conference competition, playing North Carolina State, and should clinch the title without further ado. Tennessee, which preserved its Southeastern conference lead by whipping Vanderbilt, 14-0, and Alabama, which tied Georgia Tech, 14-14, on a disputed pass, remain idle at the head of the standing.

Auburn, 28-6 winner over Louisiana State, and Georgia, beaten by the same count by Tulane, clash in the best Southeastern conference game. Georgia Tech plays Florida and Tulane faces Sewanee.

* * * * *

California-Stanford Tilt Tops Coast Bill.

FAR WEST—The race for the Pacific Coast conference title and the Rose Bowl nomination was jumbled again when Southern California fell victim to Washington, 7-6, while California re-asserted its power by beating Oregon, 20-0. Each has five victories and one defeat. California plays Stanford Saturday while the Trojans remain idle until they meet U. C. L. A. Thanksgiving.

Packers Cinch Title Share

CHICAGO —(AP)— Green Bay's Packers, assured at least a share of the national professionel football league's western division championship, today, prepared to add to the eastern division's woes.

Chicago's Bears started the trouble for the eastern loop yesterday by knocking Washington's Redskins from the division leadership. The Packers hope to finish it—in their final game on the regular season — when they oppose New York's Giants, the new leaders, at New York Sunday.

Brooklyn, which retains an outside title chance, will play the Bears next Sunday and New York on Thanksgiving day. New York took over the eastern lead yesterday by thumping the Cleveland Rams, 28 to 0.

Green Bay clinched its western division stake at Detroit, 28-7, before a crowd of 45,139, the largest ever to see a football game in the Motor city.

Next Sunday Detroit will meet the Chicago Cardinals who were held to a 14-14 tie by Cincinnati's Bengals in an exhibition Sunday. Philadelphia, which bowed before Brooklyn 32 to 14 yesterday, will meet Pittsburgh at Charleston, W. Va., in the other league game.

GALENTO COMES BACK TO RING WARS TONIGHT

K-B's Outline Demands For Misfit Game

Their game with the Lorain Collegians called off Sunday because of an early morning rain, the Kallmerten and Baer Coals today started preparations for a game tentatively scheduled for next Sunday with Brownie's Misfits at League park.

Business Manager Johnny Villella and representatives of the Misfits are expected to meet today to complete contract details for the game.

Villella told The News-Journal today that the Misfits must use only Mansfield players, none from outside of the city. He also stated that George Hummel and Tony Schadek, former members of the K-B's, would not be permitted to play because they are acquainted with the Coals' plays.

The Coalsmen also demand that the Misfits have at least 20 players in uniform and that four officials be used.

The game will not be played unless these conditions are satisfactory, Villella stated.

Buzard swept left end for the first score in the initial period from the 20. Behind excellent blocking, McKinney added the next touchdown in the second quarter from the 15. Buzard added the extra point. Atwater converted the extra point after the last touchdown.

Close Schedule With 32-0 Loss On Canton Grid

By OSCAR BUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

TAKING the word of the Tygers, who should have a pretty good idea of what they're talking about, Massillon will win over Canton McKinley next Saturday afternoon when these two schools meet to determine the state mythical football championship.

Virtually to a man, Mansfield high school gridmen contend that the Tigers are stronger than the Bulldogs, at least, in the games in which they played against them.

Canton is the most powerful club Coach Russ Murphy's men met this season, but the Tygers agree almost unanimously that Massillon is faster, more deceptive, stronger in the air and hits harder.

The Tygers got a taste of the Canton brand of ball last Saturday as they rung down the curtain on their season. They absorbed a lot of punishment from the Bulldogs, but the Cantonites appeared to lack the all-around class of the Massillons, although both clubs trimmed Mansfield by virtually the same score.

Fifth In Tygers.

Canton handed the Tygers their fifth defeat in nine games Saturday by a 32 to 0 score, while Massillon's margin of victory earlier this season was a touchdown less, 33 to 7.

Despite the margin of defeat, Mansfield produced a better performance than it did in the majority of the other losses. The Tygers fought all the way against the powerful and heavier Canton forces, led by Marion Motley, a big, speedy colored boy.

Mansfield should have scored, too. But a couple of unfortunate breaks forced the Tygers to leave the game without a point.

Murphy used his sophomores and juniors freely in the game, and they again showed promise. Dick Weaver turned in a nice job at a guard, Dick Sauder did as well at center and Martin Henke again showed promise as a back. Bob Lantz got his first starting assignment Saturday, but he suffered an ankle injury early in the game, and was forced to leave the fray before he had a chance to distinguish himself.

Capt. Rich Nagle and Ike Smith did most of the ground gaining for the Tygers against McKinley, but Howard Hershey made himself useful, too.

A feature of the Tygers' play was the punting of Alex Schwaner, who literally kicked the cover off the pigskin to drive the Bulldogs back into their own territory time and again.

Schwaner kicked eight times for an average of 41 yards. One of his punts was good for 57 yards. Another for 53. Twice he quick-kicked just short of the goal line from Mansfield territory.

Calls Play Back.

Four splendid scoring opportunities were offered the Tygers. In the second period, Referee Tony Lobach called back a play to nullify a touchdown.

Mansfield recovered a fumble on Canton's 39. Then Schwaner pitched to Hershey, who weaved through virtually the entire Canton team to cross the goal. But Lobach ruled that he had blown the whistle before the play got underway and a 10-yard deficit was charged to Mansfield.

Mansfield completely outplayed the Bulldogs in the latter part of the second half, but failed to score. Weaver intercepted a pass in the flat late in the third frame on the Canton 40, but just as it appeared he was free, he lateraled badly to Ike Smith. Mansfield recovered, but was forced to punt.

Nagle recovered a fumble on the Canton 28 early in the fourth quarter, but passes failed and Canton took the oval on downs.

The Tygers' final scoring bid was the most dangerous. After Hershey intercepted a pass on the hosts' 44, Mansfield reached the six when interference was called on a pass. The Tygers pushed to the six-inch line, and Motley intercepted a pass on fourth down behind the goal line and brought it back to the seven to stop the bid.

Canton failed to take advantage of only two scoring opportunities. Mansfield held for downs on the six in the second period and later recovered a bobble on the 18 to thwart the Bulldogs.

Motley lived up to press notices, but Canton also showed other powerful backs in Lockhart, Goodman and Garrison. Motley scored two touchdowns, passed to Roman for another and added one extra point via placement and pitched to Roman for the only other point converted.

Motley Outguns Tygers.

Motley alone picked up 189 yards in 21 running attempts. His runs ranged from one yard to 32. Mansfield threw him for a loss only once.

The big colored boy will cause Massillon no end of trouble, but he will be playing against a stronger defensive team than he did Saturday, and might find it difficult to get loose.

Canton tallied in every period but the fourth. The first score came on the opening kickoff when Motley went across from the six to culminate a 61-yard drive.

Garrison's 43-yard run, the longest of the day, featured the 61-yard march which produced the second touchdown in the next period. Motley flew over from the one.

Roman raced 30 yards to turn an interception into a touchdown for the final first half touchdown.

The 195-pound Motley passed to Roman for the first of two touchdowns in the third period. The touchdown throw netted 42 yards. Goodman romped across from the 27 on a sweep for the final score.

In addition to holding a 19 to 9 edge in first downs, Canton accumulated more yardage from scrimmage than any Tyger foe this season. The Bulldogs piled up 437 yards from rushing to only 107 for the Tygers. Both clubs obtained 45 yards from passes, Mansfield completing five out of 20 and Canton two out of 11. Four Mansfield throws were intercepted, while the Bulldogs gave up the ball twice in this manner.

Hold Edge In Runbacks.

The only department of the statistics in which Mansfield held the edge was in the return of kicks, and this was due to Schwaner's spectacular puntings, which frequently flew over the safety man's head. The Tygers returned boots for 115 yards.

All of the Tygers who saw service in Saturday's game will return next fall except Capt. Nagle, Schwaner, Harold Gallagher, Joe Lehr, Dick McMullen and Bill Russell.

Matmen to Inaugurate Winter Season Friday

PROFESSIONAL wrestling will return to the Mansfield sport scene this week, according to an announcement by the Quality club. Tim Nolan will continue in the capacity of matchmaker and present plans call for programs twice monthly. Scene of the bouts will be the Armory.

Reviving the mat pastime after four months of inactivity, Nolan will inaugurate the winter season on Friday with a presentation of three matches. The matchmaker has formed connections with booking agencies in Columbus, Toledo and Chicago, hoping to bring the standout names of the mat world here.

Although Nolan has not announced his feature attraction for Friday, it is believed he will secure the services of Gordon Arquette, the Indian light-heavyweight contender from Yakima, Wash., as one of the principals. Arquette has recently made a strong bid for top honors in his division and is in the best shape of his career. A six-months' study of the latest deviations in scientific wrestling has enabled him to score 14 straight wins on his way here from the west coast.

The Quality club will continue its policy of popular-priced shows and the starting time will be 8:30. The club expects to announce completion of the main event by tomorrow.

LA SALLE ADDS TO COMFORT AND DRIVING SAFETY

Striking in appearance and possessing a new ride that correlates both comfort and safety in a degree never before achieved in the automotive field, the 1939 La Salle makes its bow under auspicious circumstances.

Few cars have been so completely re-engineered in an annual change-over. The design is fresh and distinctive. The size has been changed to make the car more easily maneuverable, yet with increased passenger room. The spring suspension, frame and body sheet metal have all been improved. Only the traditional V-8 engine, time-tested power source of the La Salle, remains basically the same.

Body Lines Graceful.

Even the most callous observer will sense the new spirit created by La Salle's many advances. Body lines are graceful and clean, much after the trend of modern architecture to simplification.

In operation, progress is equally significant. Not alone does the La Salle for 1939 offer an entirely new thrill in riding, but safety, driving ease, economy and durability notably move forward.

Five body types — the coupe, five-passenger touring coupe, touring sedan, convertible coupe and convertible sedan—are presented.

As a radical departure, and due to the fact that bodies are unusually low, running boards are optional at no extra cost. When removed, stainless steel strips are added below the doors.

The new bodies also register in safer operation. Visibility has been materially increased by deeper windshields and windows and narrower body pillars. There is an actual improvement of 27 per cent in glass area over last year's models.

The La Salle carries the "Sunshine turret top" as an optional feature on the touring coupe and sedan.

Until the perfection of the new La Salle rear spring suspension, engineers believed better and safer roadability could be obtained only at the expense of comfort.

Cadillac-La Salle engineers have succeeded in solving the problem. Through an entirely new idea in rear suspension they achieved a ride where resiliency of soft springs does not handicap roadability.

Another driving asset of the new La Salle is ease of operation and convenience of controls. The syncromatic shift, an important automotive contribution by the 938 La Salles, has been retained, but refinements make gear shifting even more effortless.

Instrument panels abet the modern motif of the exterior. Dials are mounted horizontally in front of the driver and beneath a curved glass panel that reaches the full width of the dash.

Other points of body refinement —concealed door hinges, leather-topped front seat arm rests, folding arm rests in the rear seat, new "low-clutch" hardware that tastefully combines plastic and chromium, an automatic glove compartment light—are less obvious but offer testimony of the attention to detail in the latest La Salle.

HUDSON ADDS 27 ITEMS TO AUTOS

Vice President Says Buyer Gets More for Money in New Models.

As an instance of the lowered cost to the 1939 buyer for the kind of a car he wants, equipped as he wants it, William R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales for the Hudson Motor Car company, cites the fact that even the 1939 Hudson 112, in the lowest price field, has 27 items added to the standard equipment of the car which were not on the 1938 models.

"It is only a matter of simple arithmetic," Tracy said, "to add up the cost of only a few such important 1939 standard equipment items as the new Handy Shift, fenders to match the body color, choice of seven body colors of which four are opalescent, larger tires, bumper guards front and rear, Hudson's exclusive Auto-Poise control and the concealed Carry-All Luggage compartment which provides more luggage room than most trunk models and apply this cost to last year's models to discover how much more the buyer is getting for his money in the 1939 Hudson 112.

"The additional items included as standard equipment on the 1939 Hudson 112 represent refinements in beauty, comfort convenience and safety throughout the whole car. Such items as the new Headlight Beam Indicator, the new front compartment light, wing-type ventilation, front door arm rests, and the new Dash-Locking Safety Hood latch-operated from inside the car at driver's seat are all genuine contributions toward greater value and owner satisfaction. We have included all 27 because we believe that the majority of car buyers want their car completely equipped and that is why every Hudson price buys a complete car."

ONE OUT OF SEVEN

Streamlined Nash, Engineer

With motor car buyers, style's the thing in 1939! And that's why automobile makers have paid more attention than ever before to the appearance of their new cars, according to George W. Walker, noted industrial designer. Here Walker is shown with the 1939 streamlined Nash, which he restyled from stem to stern in collaboration with the company's engineers. The new models are on display here at the Nash-Lafayette salesrooms, 70 North Diamond street.

Headlamp Trestle New Feature For Plymouth Lighting

The latest development in headlight construction for automobiles, to reduce glare while keeping full illumination of the road ahead, was revealed as the Plymouth factory swung into full operation to supply dealer demands for the new 1939 models.

Colby and Earick and the Herring Motor Car company are Mansfield distributors for Plymouth.

A prominent new feature of the final assembly line is a "headlamp trestle" nearly 100 feet long, which carries new-type focusing apparatus in front of each completed car for new levels of accurate headlighting that mean greater safety on the road.

"X marks the spot" on individual focusing screens that move below the overhead trestle, where the beams from each headlamp converge as they are "aimed" through special condenser lenses.

In addition to the improved reflector system introduced with the new "wide range" lights, these streamlined units are an integral part of the 1939 Plymouth's new "lateral airfoil" design.

SALES INCREASE

Prosperity trends in the automotive accessory field are indicated in marked fashion by reports on anti-freeze sales.

National Carbon company, makers of "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze, note increasing sales activity, with a volume well over that of any previous season.

In addition to individual consumer requirements, the company is supplying "Prestone" anti-freeze to practically every department of the federal government and every state government. Counties, commissions, and school districts are other heavy purchasers, along with scores of municipalities. It is also noted that important sales volume has appeared earlier than in previous years.

FEATURES KEY LOCK

The Lincoln-Zephyr for 1939 has a key lock under the door handle on both sides of the car for greater convenience of the driver.

DODGE LUXURY LINER EMBODIES NEW FEATURES

The 1939 line of Dodge passenger automobiles will be viewed with lively interest, partly because it presents a number of style surprises and mechanical innovations, and also because the newest of Dodge cars is the company's Silver Anniversary model to which engineers, style leaders and production experts are said to have devoted their utmost skill and effort. The company is announcing the new car as the "Dodge Luxury Liner." Colby and Earick, 76 West Third street, are Mansfield distributors.

To the visitor examining the cars for the first time, only the nameplate and the familiar Rocky Mountain Ram which for years has served as Dodge radiator ornament, suggest the car's identity. Everything else is new and different—body contours, hood lines, front grilles, fenders, lamps, windshield, front wheel springing, running boards—even the tire pattern differs from that used on preceding Dodge models.

The gracefully proportioned rear sweep of the all-steel bodies completely conceals a 27 per cent larger luggage compartment. The driving compartment is clear of gear shift and parking brake levers.

New Model Is Larger.

The new Dodge is longer in wheelbase and wider in body. It has wider seats, increased leg and elbow space, and greater visibility.

In designing the chassis of the new Dodge Luxury Liner, engineers have provided a new frame with 6-inch side members. The greatest change is noted in the heavier front end of the new frame, which now accomodates an individual-action front-wheel suspension using coil springs of Amola, the new steel also used extensively in the manufacture of Dodge wheel shafts, transmission and drive gears.

Safety in Vision.

The V-type "airplane vision" windshield also is of entirely new design; it is mounted between trimmed-down corner posts, is wider and higher, giving 23 per cent more glass area. The windshield wiper action is electric and constant in speed.

The unusual visibility forward is matched by similar side visibility through wide windows in the sides and rear.

In keeping with other features of streamlining, the headlamps of the new Dodge Luxury Liners are recessed in the forward curves of the front fenders, flush with the surface.

A noteworthy service convenience is incorporated in the design of the hood which is unlocked by the conventional handle, but lifts only the top section, leaving the sides in place. The hood covers are provided with automatic stays, one on each side, which hold the lifted hood in locked position during servicing.

Engine Improvements.

The hydraulic brakes of Dodge have been further improved by relocating air-cooling ribs and redesigning the brake drums to give the brake action a better "feel."

Especially noteworthy among engine improvements are new auto-thermic pistons. Because these new pistons are lighter and also carry lighter piston pins, the loads on main and connecting rod bearings are reduced.

Many Inside Luxuries.

Inside its streamlined bodies, the Dodge Luxury Liner achieves a fine method of upholstering and trimming. Fabrics covering wider seats are attached with an attractive tailored effect. The front seats have wider range of adjustment forward and back, the front seats being arranged to tilt upward as they are moved toward the instrument panel.

The most intriguing feature of the instrument panel is the Dodge "safety light" speedometer; its indicating member consists of a small bead which moves over an illuminated dial as the speed of the car goes up or down. For speeds up to 30 miles an hour, the color of the tell-tale bead is green; from 30 to 50 miles an hour the color of the bead is amber; for speeds above 50 miles the bead is red.

PERFECTS BRAKES

HERALDS EASY CLUTCH

NEW SAFETY FEATURE

Dual center-control steering, providing maximum safety and new driving ease, either in traffic or on the open road is an outstanding feature of the 1939 Oldsmobile "Sixty," "Seventy," and "Eighty." At no time, according to Oldsmobile engineers, has the industry found a steering mechanism that operates as smoothly and satisfactorily as the dual center-control steering type.

NEW CIGAR LIGHTER

On the new 1939 Buick there is a cigar lighter which pops out of contact when hot. This eliminates the necesity for driving with one hand for a contracted period while manipulating the lighter.
